About Big Business.
Does It Worry You?
A Puzzled Countess.
Coolidge Not Worried.

DOES THE GROWTH of big business worry you? Consider the automobile business, which is certainly big.

Five hundred different kinds of automobiles have disappeared from the market within 25 years.

In 1922, 89 different makes of cars were shown in the national automobile show. In 1925, 68 makes, only 57 in 1924, and in the last show, only 50.

What have been the results of concentrating the automobile business in fewer hands?

Detroit automobile makers at this moment employ 60,000 more men, at high wages, than they did in the same weeks last year.

The output of cars is steadily increasing, prices are lower than ever.

Business must be big, and bigness should be encouraged by the government, watched and controlled by the people.

If they haven't brains enough for that they wouldn't have enough to control little business.

A BEWILDERED woman is the Countess Cathcart. Because she had eloped with the Earl of Craven, not her husband, she was locked up at Elms Island, and he was allowed to come in. "Why," she asked, "do you stop me?" The answer came, "We cannot endure immorality in this proud country."

She got into the United States eventually, edited by high morality, no doubt, and was invited to a New York "wild party." There, the story goes, in a naked crowd of men and women, she beheld a naked actress taking a bath in a tub filled with champagne.

And that isn't the worst of it. The Ellis Island imprisonment advertised her so well that theatre and moving picture managers hired her. Now moving picture people say she can "never appear on the screen" because she went to that wild party.

When the very British Lady Spencer came to America, years ago, with her distinguished red-whiskered husband of Spencer House, and stopped at the Old Fifth Avenue hotel, she was amazed by everything, especially by 10 or 12 little dishes of vegetables around her dinner plate. She rolled her eyes to Heaven and said to her husband, "I only ask you, Spencer, what does it mean?"

That's how Lady Cathcart must feel when she tries to unravel our moral code. The courts have ruled she may stay as long as any other alien visitor.

WIT WILL BE KIWANIS GUEST

Hugh Fuller.

CLUB MEN PLAN LADIES' NIGHT DINNER-DANCE

Hugh Fuller Will be Headliner of Kiwanis Program.

THURSDAY PARTY

Affair Will be Held in Larkin Annex, Market Street.

Hugh Fuller, writer, humorist and impersonator, will be the entertainer for a "Ladies' Night" meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Larkin Annex, Market street, at 6:15 o'clock Thursday evening. His subject will be "Dits o' Life From the Byways."

Among the characters presented by Fuller is "Uncle Eben," a Negro whose story of "De Lan' Behin' de Moon" takes a moonbeam carriage, loaded with children, through the Cookie Gate and into Santyland, where they visit Mother Calico's house; the Snowflake Shop, where the elves make toys; the garden, where Christmas candies grow; the Christmas tree forest and back to their trundle beds.

As a village philosopher, Fuller runs the gamut of humor and pathos with his story of the football game, his country store song, his sneezing spring song and numerous original poems. In "Sammy Goes a-calling," he reveals the tribulations of a sentimental grocery boy. "Aunt Sue Brundage," wholesome and lovable, offers a comparison of two contrasting characters, her sons in distant cities, who have been invited home for mother's birthday.

VOLPE MISSING SINCE JAN. 24

Anonymous Letter Sent Police Five Weeks Ago Said That Murdered Man Might be Found in Field.

CLEVELAND, O., March 8.—The bullet-riddled body of the man found in a snowdrift near Pepper Pike Village was identified today as that of Samuel Volpe, 32, of Canton, O., by his brother-in-law, Philip de Mario, 1449 Allen avenue, Canton, and other relatives.

"That's him," de Mario remarked without apparent emotion, after viewing the body in the county morgue.

Accompanying de Mario were Louis Pape, a boarder at the De Mario home, and Leo and Benny Valentino, of Cleveland, cousins by marriage of Volpe.

All four were taken by the Inspector of Detectives C. W. Coffey for questioning.

De Mario said that Volpe had been missing from home since January 24 or 25 and that a warrant charging him with failing to support his wife had been issued for his arrest.

An autopsy will be performed over Volpe's body this afternoon and it will then be shipped to Canton for burial.

In the meantime police were continuing their search for the author of the writer of the anonymous letter received by police here five weeks ago, telling them that a murdered man might be found in a field on the Chagrin Falls road. This spot is not far from the place where George B. Donnelly discovered Volpe's body yesterday after his horse, scenting the remains, shied at the gruesome find.

Volpe had been shot three times, once in the back and in both elbows. Police said all the shots were fired at Volpe from his rear.

"Many of us do not have our eyes on any fixed goal but just drift around it," he said. "It takes some one with determination to get anywhere. Only those who have real stuff in them rise above the level. There is a real joy in work."

"Our success in life is largely determined by our relation to the Great Coach. Tuck the ball under your arm with the aid of the one Helper and don't quit until the game is over."

FRED HOLCOMB, 9, WELLSVILLE, IS VICTIM OF SPEED MANIAC

Farmer Finds Dying Youth on Cemetery Hill Road.

DRIVER ESCAPES

Police Seek Two Men Who Rode in Sedan.

Struck by a "hit-and-run" motorist Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the Cemetery hill road, Wellsville, while enroute home with groceries for his mother, Frederick Holcomb, Jr., 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holcomb, died Sunday morning at 3:30 o'clock in the City hospital. His skull was badly fractured.

Search for Motorist.

Police authorities launched a search for the motorist, but so far have been unsuccessful in their efforts. According to friends of the family, the automobile, which was neither a Ford or an Overland sedan, carried the driver and a companion. It was said to have been seen by Mrs. William G. Bright, who, however, was too far from the scene of the accident to note the figures on the license plates.

The lad had purchased groceries at the J. F. Donnelly store in Tenth and Commerce streets, Wellsville, and was walking up the hill road when hit by the car. There is no pavement on either side of the road at the point where the accident occurred, and the common custom permits the use of the paved section by both pedestrian and motor traffic.

Bleeding profusely, the body of the youth was picked up by George Bowles, a farmer, of Highlandtown, who drove up the road a few minutes after the motorist had fled. He took the boy to the home of his parents. Later the lad was removed to the hospital in the D. N. MacLean ambulance.

In addition to his parents, the boy is survived by two sisters and a brother, Ruth and Frances and James. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian church, of East Liverpool. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

PERMANENT PAVING

[Editorial reproduced from Connellsville Daily News, Connellsville, Pa., June 12, 1925.]

Connellsville is about ready to pave and repave a number of streets at a cost of many thousands of dollars which brings up the discussion of the most durable type of construction. * * * During the last five years a sum approximating $200,000 has been expended for Wilbur paving. When the first material was put down on Crawford avenue, West Apple street and a block on Arch street, its durability was questioned as compared with paving block. After sending the city engineer to Niagara Falls to investigate a piece of road resurfaced with this material, Council contracted for the resurfacing of the three sections above mentioned. The material was guaranteed for five years by the contractor. Whether it has been entirely satisfactory may be judged best by those who use the streets most or by those who have paid some attention to the condition of these sections since they were laid five years ago. Soon the contractor will be relieved of maintenance under the guarantee clause in the contract. Will the cost of upkeep justify further experiment in this kind of material in preference to paving brick?

Two hundred thousand dollars is a large sum of money for any city the size of Connellsville to tie up in something that has not yet been proven a success. There is no escaping the fact that a worn out street base will not endure for any length of time by the simple coating with any kind of resurfacing material. If a street base is not sufficiently strong to maintain a brick surface it is reasonable to assume that resurfacing with out rebuilding the foundation will not last for any considerable length of time.

Connellsville's brick streets have been quite as good as any brick streets put down years ago to meet the traffic conditions existing at that time. Conditions have changed and nowhere are municipalities building their thoroughfares as they did as late as twenty years ago. Our more recent constructed brick streets are holding up good and except perhaps, for some slight repairs they will be serviceable for years to come. If the city were to adopt modern methods of street construction, that of more secure base with proper drainage, the maintenance cost for twenty years would be a small item as compared with the frequent patching required of bituminous surfacing materials. It cannot be charged that the brick used in the paving of our streets as long ago as 25 years were out. Far from it. The roughness of the thoroughfares was caused by the giving away of the base or because excavations were not properly filled, or because proper drainage was not provided.

It is especially interesting at this time to note what other cities are thinking about and what they are doing in the way of street paving. The following editorial comment from Steubenville Gazette, is worthy of consideration by the municipal authorities who at this time are more or less interested in new street construction.

AS TO ASPHALT PAVING.

"Is asphalt the best material to use on our streets? Will asphalt paving stand up under the wear and tear of present day traffic as well as some other material would? This city has had quite a run on asphalt paving during the last few years, so much so that brick and other materials have hardly been considered.

"But there are now indications that this policy is to be seriously questioned. In the report of the street committee of city council to that body at the meeting Tuesday night, on the paving program for the present year, occurred the following suggestion:

"The attention of the service department is called to the condition of certain of our asphalt streets and defects therein. We suggest that a close inspection be made of all asphalt streets, the faults noted and that the contractor be notified to place them in proper condition at once.

"We recommend that very serious consideration be given to materials for paving, other than asphalt. This recommendation is based upon the experience of the past few years, the faults, referred to above giving rise to the asphalt as to its permanence as a paving material.

"It will be recalled that the Gazette has discussed the paving question at some length and especially the asphalt phase of it. We have asked the question as to how much the asphalt adds to the life of a pavement where the concrete base has been properly prepared. We have discussed the simple nature of the work involved in the preparation of the material and the low cost involved.

"It must be borne in mind that one firm has been doing all the asphalt paving in Steubenville; being successful against all other bidders, practically regardless of price. This was also discussed at length by the Gazette. Since one firm has done all the work it is reasonable to assume that it is all of the same character practically, and if that done first is proving unsatisfactory and is already going to pieces, then it is the natural conclusion that all will follow the same course.

"When contracts were awarded to this firm at a price much above another bidder the excuse was that the low bidder was not 'prepared to do the work.'

"If it should turn out that the high bidder was 'not prepared to do the work' right the people may conclude that they may as well have been saved the additional expense by taking a chance on the low bidder.

"The recommendation of the street committee is a good one and it should have the most serious attention of council. The people of Steubenville are obligating themselves for several hundred thousand dollars' worth of street paving and it would be little short of crime if it would transpire that they are obligating themselves to pay first a first class price for an inferior grade of work. If asphalt will not stand the traffic let it be discarded and some other material substituted; or if the fault is with the character of the asphalt used then let that fact be ascertained and a better grade obtained if possible."

The following comment is from editorials which recently appeared in the Williamsport, Pa., newspapers:

"As to the material used in local paving jobs. Williamsport is an enthusiastic brick city. It has economic reasons for its enthusiasm.

"Figures show brick pavements cost less to maintain and wear longer than other kinds of so-called permanent streets.

"There are undoubtedly some good patent pavements on the market, but Williamsport has had its best success in paving with the use of brick.

"Experience is the best rule obtainable and in the case of paving materials experience has proved brick to be the most economical and satisfactory material for Williamsport.

"The city has no money for experimental work of any kind. It has none for pavements to whose cost must be added the installation and maintenance of a repair plant if asphalt is kept in good condition. It cannot afford extravagance of any kind or in any direction, especially as Park avenue, West Third and other streets must be paved for heavy traffic. This city must get a dollar's worth of value for every dollar spent. As agent of the property owners and taxpayers, council would be derelict if it failed to do so.

"Some brick in Williamsport has held up the heaviest traffic the town has to offer for almost thirty years, and, while it is somewhat battered, it is 'on the job' every day, holding up traffic. And to date it isn't debtor for any maintenance expense.

"The oldest brick pavement in Williamsport is the stretch on Fourth street, between Mulberry and Elmira streets. It was laid in 1853. That was thirty years ago, mind you. The expense of maintenance in that time has been practically nothing. In contrast with this are the streets paved with asphalt, about three and a half miles, on which, since 1903, there has been spent approximately $82,000, for resurfacing and repairs.

"It has cost the taxpayers of the city about $24,000 per mile for the maintenance of their asphalt-paved streets. In addition to this the city has kept its little repair plant busy all the time.

The cost probably would favor asphalt, as a rule, is a little less than brick, but brick is much cheaper in the end on account of the lower cost of upkeep. The property owner pays the first cost of the paving in front of his property. The city is supposed to repair and maintain it forever after. The property owner might think that he was getting a cheap pavement at the start and be no money out of pocket in the future, but he only deceiving himself, because he must pay his proportionate share for repairs throughout the whole city. He has only to contemplate the $82,000 asphalt repair bill to understand what that means."—Advertisement.

NEW TEACHERS' RULES ADOPTED

Regulations Relative to Credits Issued by State Board.

New regulations pertaining to the basis for granting credits and certificates and to kindred matters were adopted by the state board of education at its recent meeting and become effective with the opening of the next school year in September.

They are based on the recommendations made by the conference of representatives of West Virginia colleges and normal schools held last November in Charleston.

From the revised code of regulations the following excerpts are taken: The present requirements from a first class high school graduation as fixed by the West Virginia high school course of study will be recognized for college entrance to West Virginia normal schools and colleges.

The entrance requirements to the state normal schools and colleges shall be uniform as to the amount of work and the grouping of students.

Students will be admitted to the state normal schools and colleges on presentation of 15 units of high school credit, the remaining unit to be made up during the first of second year of normal school or college work.

The minimum amount of resident work required for graduation in the courses listed below shall be as follows:

In the standard college course, 32 hours, one-half of which must be done in the senior year.

In the standard normal course, 24 hours, with at least eight additional hours done in extension from the institution in which the student is to be graduated.

In the short normal course, 18 hours, with at least six additional hours done in extension from the institution in which the student is to be graduated. Work done in any state normal school, college or university shall be credited hour for hour, by any other normal school, college or university of the state, subject to resident graduation and special requirements on account of membership in any approved association of colleges or universities.

Credit for summer school work shall be evaluated and recognized on the same basis as that used for giving credit for work done in the regular school year, that is, 18 recitation hours equal to one semester hour of credit.

On an elementary certificate earned in the uniform examination, one-half unit of high school credit may be allowed on each of the following subjects in which the applicant has received a grade of 85 per cent or more: Reading, English, grammar, arithmetic, physiology, United States history, geography, agriculture, civil government, theory and art of teaching, state history, bookkeeping, ancient history.

Credit for a subject on a teacher's certificate cannot be allowed if the student has already received credit for identical or similar work.

Credit given on reading and English grammar on account of a teacher's certificate can be substituted only for the first year high school English.

Money paid by public utilities to 198 municipalities will aggregate $703,887.27 out of the total of $8,634,149.53. The aggregate funds are distributed on that basis, according to Major Bond.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, MARCH 8, 1926.

Law-Abiding Community

East Liverpool is a law-abiding community.

This fact is deduced from a study of the February report of business occupying the attention of Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, row on the second month of his four-year term.

Fifty-six so-called criminal cases were filed under provisions of city ordinances, while 21 state actions, or a total of 76, were heard during the four-week period. And there were no major offenses in the list.

And when it is recalled that the municipal court's jurisdiction includes Liverpool township as well as the city proper, thus serving a population in excess of 25,000, this record speaks well for the community.

Of course, it is recognized that a few transgressors evade the police here as well as in other cities, but, all in all, East Liverpool is a pretty good town, as court officials attest.

And, incidentally, no small part of the credit for the reduction in criminal prosecutions can be attributed to the outlawing of the saloon.

Tropical Touring

Anyone who has feared that the intensity of recent tourist travel in Europe would soon leave the traveler all dressed up and no place to go may now forget his anxiety. When Europe has been seen and re-seen, the confirmed traveler turns to the tropics. And here is the surprising thing about the increasing development of southern travel. It is not seasonal. It is becoming as important in summer as in winter.

The possession of electric fans and abundant cheap ice, not to mention the elimination of mosquitoes and the new zest for exploration of every sort, have combined to make life in and about the tropical zone not merely endurable, but actually comfortable and attractive to natives of the temperate zones.

So southward the course of touring takes its way—also northward, westward, eastward. No one need think, either, that the world's charms are really in danger of exhaustion. Even if this generation of travelers grows weary, there are new generations coming along to whom globe-trotting will be second nature.

What's The Hurry?

Two Americans are now in Moscow arranging with the Soviet government for Russian co-operation in their proposed 20-day tour of the world. They are out to beat the present world girdling record of 35 days which was made in 1911. Although water transportation has not improved greatly since then, the airplane has made it possible to skim across a good deal of land in a remarkably short time.

The racers plan to cross the Pacific ocean in the Empress of Russia and the Atlantic in the Mauretania, the two ships used by the 1911 record maker. Across continents, however, they expect to abandon trains and take to the air.

It is quite possible that they will achieve their purpose. If they receive enough co-operation and backing so that there will be practically no delay anywhere, they may get around the world as quickly as they hope. But what of it?

They won't have seen much of interest. They won't have had time for friends, old or new. They will have traveled under nervous pressure, without even accomplishing any scientifically useful purpose.

Speed for a useful end is good. Speed just for speed is foolish.

Better Summer Hotels

The hotels improvement committee of the Ontario Motor league has announced a competition among hotel men to improve accommodations for tourists. Cash prizes are offered. The successful contestants will be those who, according to the voluntary report of legitimate guests, have shown the greatest improvement in cuisine, sleeping accommodations and actual business done during the period from May 1 to November 1, 1926. Nothing is said about rates.

The contest appears to present certain difficulties. Tourist guests are transients. They can therefore report conditions only as they find them in the interval of their residence, and can hardly make comparative reports of any hotel for the whole period. Probably, however, the tone of reports of different guests will be considered. If enthusiasm increases consistently from May to November in any hostelry, it will seem evident that hotel service has improved proportionately in the lines specified.

Any tourist planning to visit Ontario in the period named can safely leave the working out of contest details to those in charge. The tourist himself should profit greatly by the competitive service he seems destined to receive, and if he is at all grateful he will do his part by reporting his satisfaction and pleasure just as promptly and faithfully as he would report his "kicks."

Do American summer hotels need this sort of inspiration?

HASKIN'S LETTER By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

More and Bigger Jails

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 8.—A few days ago it was announced that with the Government penitentiaries filled to capacity Attorney General Sargent had issued an order that local jails be used to harbor the overflow of Federal prisoners. This is cited as evidence that Uncle Sam must have more and bigger jails and that the emergency is so serious as to require immediate action by Congress.

Officials of the American Prison Association agree that there can be no doubt about this. They say, however, that it is by no means a new condition or development that is revealed by the order of the Attorney General. Dr. Hastings H. Hart, chairman of the Association's committee on jails and consultant in penology for the Russell Sage Foundation, submitted a report to the last annual meeting of the organization stating that the United States Government having no jails of its own was using one-third of all the city and county jails in the country. More than 7,000 prisoners, it was asserted, were being boarded out in local jails over which the Federal Government has no control and many of which are desperately overcrowded and reeking of moral and physical filth.

And now Dr. Hart has addressed a communication to the 130 judges of the United States District Courts urging them to institute grand jury investigations of the conditions under which Federal prisoners are jailed in their respective districts.

"The county jail today is unquestionably a prolific source of crime," says this letter to Federal judges, "and Federal prisoners in common with others suffer from its destructive influence. It can be converted into an agency for the decrease of crime if the subject is intelligently studied and treated. It is exceedingly important that this subject should be approached from the standpoint of common sense and practical wisdom rather than that of sentiment, sensation, or revenge."

The letter also calls the attention of the judges to the recommendation of the American Prison Association that time should give careful consideration that the Federal Government at this time to the establishment of a jail system of its own, each jail to cover districts where the number of Federal prisoners is large or where the local jail accommodations are inadequate, and that in connection with the Federal penal system there be established a training school for prison officers similar to that maintained by the British government in which both preliminary and advanced training be provided.

Serious Conditions Charged.
The Hart report refers to county jails as breeding places and schools of crime. It cites jails where prisoners are being herded like hogs in a stockyard and others that are crowded to the point of suffocation. Even in the largest jails in New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago, and Denver, the report says there is no adequate provision for segregating prisoners, with the result that prisoners experienced in crime, committed to prison for the first time—including those awaiting trial, detained as witnesses, or imprisoned for failure to pay fines for minor offenses—are forced into close association with hardened criminals and other prisoners of the vilest character.

Bad sanitation, indiscriminate mixing of prisoners, enforced idleness, lack of any Federal control over government prisoners housed in city, state, or county jails, and the practice of paying a per diem rate for boarding prisoners so that the income of the jailer or sheriff and the support of his family and the education of his children depend in part upon the amount of money he can save out of the allowance for feeding prisoners, are other evils to which the attention of the judges is directed.

The greatest congestion of Federal prisoners is said to be at points along the Canadian and Mexican borders, and it is there that the Government should first develop a jail system of its own if it undertakes to deal with the problem in accordance with the judgment of prison experts. The system would then be extended until the Government has jails in all thickly settled sections of the country.

The report of the American Prison Association committee shows that there has been a very great increase not only in the number of Federal prisoners boarded out to municipal and county jails, but also in the population of the three Federal penitentiaries, the latter having doubled in the last five years and more than trebled in the last fifteen years.

Confirmed by House Committee.
That conditions with respect to the housing of Federal prisoners are exceedingly serious was confirmed by the House Committee on Appropriations when it reported the supply bill that included the appropriation for the Department of Justice. The committee stated that the Government penal institutions were crowded to a degree that cried out for immediate relief. Cells that were intended for but one occupant are housing two prisoners and it has been found necessary to provide temporary quarters that are inadequate and unsanitary. In one penitentiary, according to the committee, 200 prisoners are being confined in a basement that is always damp and cold and altogether unfit for use on any humane basis of consideration.

It is also contended by the penal experts that if the Government, through Congress, does not take steps to have jails of its own it should at least pay adequately for the service when it boards prisoners in city and county jails. The amount now paid by the Government when it farms out the care of prisoners makes no allowance for rent and in many cases it barely covers the cost of feeding, without any allowance for guards, furniture, bedding, heat, and light.

"The evils of the county jail system have been recognized for one hundred years past," says Dr. Hart's report, "and for fifty years vigorous efforts for the reformation of the system have been carried on by the state boards of charities and correction or state prison associations in certain States. These bodies have worked earnestly and faithfully for the improvement of the system, but for the most part with little effect, because the jails are under the control of county boards which are constantly changing, and whose action is largely controlled by considerations of economy."

"In the localities where the number of United States prisoners is large and the jail accommodation is limited, it has been found necessary to increase the rates to jails where the service was inferior, while other jails which had spare room have received a lower rate for better service. United States prisoners from the City of New York, where the rate paid is 90 cents per day, were boarded in New Jersey jails where the rate was 75 cents per day."

"The Federal Government pays the City of Detroit for sentenced prisoners kept in the Detroit House of Correction $1.00 per day, but it sends prisoners awaiting trial from Detroit to Toledo, where Lucas County, Ohio, boards them for 55 cents per day."

It is said that the Federal Government now has approximately 60,000 prisoners on its hands each year, and that the number is increasing steadily.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 8.—Diary of a modern Popsy: Lay late and through the town and Charlie Hughes brought Walter C. Kelly, the Virginia judge of vandyville, to the table where I was eating and Kelly told me his mother read my articles regularly, which pleased me not a little.

And Kelly is a modest man and well spoke, who has traveled to almost every corner of the world and tells me his quaint dialect stories are received even better in England than in America. So home and cast my accounts. In the evening to see "The Shanghai Gesture," a vulgar play, but the world being what it is will fill the theatre nightly. Then to talk with Irving Caesar, the song lyricist, and I told him I regarded "Tea for Two" as his best lyric, but again the world being what it is, he said his best efforts had been least noticed. So home and to bed.

A jobless art met Jay Brennan on Broadway with: "Gimme a cigarette. I don't want to break a dollar."

An auto repair shop on 50th street flaunts this sign: "Limp in and leap out." And along the approach to a Long Island city is this: "Go slow and see our town. Go fast and see our jail."

There is a certain type of New Yorker who squire the beautiful show girl to luncheon or dinner in much the same manner that he flowers his coat lapel with a rose. Each is a sop to his vanity. The show girl too understands, and this is largely responsible for her classification—the beautiful but dumb. She is not interested in conversation. She is more interested in food. Incidentally there has been a dearth of stage beauties the past season. A theatrical producer blames the shortage on the movies, and names 25 known last year for their personal pulchritude who are now in Hollywood.

The Charleston, despite adverse prediction of this chronicler, continues to flourish. At a small theatre in the ghetto an announcement reads: "On Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Klein will do the Charleston." New steps are gaining favor weekly, and half the patrons of supper clubs are showing adeptness.

A westerner was watching two exponents of the Charleston. "That's a hot dance," some one remarked. "I'll say it is!" he replied. "As hot as a six-shooter."

The recent passing of Ashby Deering removes a newspaperman of another generation. He was for years a reporter of Broadway life—reflecting it in a kindly, cultured manner. He saw the rise and fall of innumerable celebrities, and all were his friends. His attitude was gentle and encouraging and he left a rich heritage of friendship.

It was Ashby Deering who found perhaps the frankest merchant in all New York. It was in a little Bowery tobacco store, whither he had drifted to buy a cigar. He looked over wares on display and made his selection. The shop keeper hesitated just an instant, and said: "I'll sell it to you, but you can't smoke it on the premises."

EVE'S TWO LOVERS

EDGAR POE NORRIS

FIFTEEN.

The honeymooners were at breakfast. Eve looked rosy across the breakfast that had been laid in their room. She was in that mood that comes from the thought, "no one ever has been so divinely happy as this before." She got up to go and sit in Clay's lap, taking the newspaper from his hands and tossing it away. "Always reading the paper," she pouted. "I was just looking at the ads for men. I think I'd like to live in Chicago. How about you?"

"Oh, it's so big," she kissed him. Clay laughed. "You'd soon get over that, small town girl. There are shows all the time, big bathing beaches in summer, everything."

Eve regarded him intently. "You aren't serious, are you?"

"If I could find a good job."

"No, honey, let's not think of living here."

Her husband frowned impatiently. "You don't think I want to be tied to Central City forever, do you? Now's the time for us to get started elsewhere, before we have any responsibilities."

"Yes, I know honey," Eve replied, cooing, "we want to be wherever our chances are best, but we'll have to have something to start on first. You have a very good position in Central City, and with me working, too, it won't be long."

Clay cut in. "You AREN'T going to work."

The bride gave him a patient pat on the cheek and smiled. "Well, any way, we ought to have some money first. If we had enough to buy a little farm—"

"Farm?" His eyes opened widely. "Yes, I've always dreamed of having a little place where I could raise flowers and chickens and dogs and cats and horses—"

"You're thinking of a ranch?" Eve pulled her husband's head around so that her eyes looked into his. "Really, Clay, we must think of a place to live. Your mother said—"

He colored. He had suspected that his mother had had something to say about them coming there to live. "Oh, we'll take a little house," he interrupted, taking a phrase of hers.

"We'll have to have furniture, and oh, a thousand things. It takes a frightful lot of junk just for two persons to start housekeeping with. Living alone, a man or a woman gets along with a trunk; when they marry, they have to have a whole household of furniture. . . Of course we won't have to get everything at first."

"If we located in Chicago we would take a furnished apartment. That would save—"

Worry wrinkled Eve's brow slightly. Was Clay really serious about this? "Where are we going this morning?" she put in. "And, dearest, when are we going out to the Mohawk Country club.

"Aw, do you really want to go out there?"

"Yes," she said with enthusiasm, "don't you?"

"We'll have to get clothes, and besides, we couldn't play golf or anything."

"They always have clubs or tennis rackets you can rent. Besides there are canoes and things."

"You seem to know all about it. Ingate must have gone into particulars."

"Now, now!" Another gentle pat on the cheek. The roseate mood was still upon her.

"I'll tell you what let's do. Let's go to a ball game. Either the White Sox or Cubs are in town. What do you say?"

"I don't know anything about baseball, but I guess it's because I don't understand it. You'll teach me, won't you?"

A sour expression over-spread Clay's face. He remembered a previous experience in explaining the great national game to an escort. "Well, if you don't want to go, well—how about the stockyards?"

"Ugh! The stockyards? What would I want to go there for?"

"Oh, it's interesting. They let you see how they kill cattle and—"

"Ugh! No thank you. . . But I didn't say I wouldn't go to the ball game. We can—"

"Come to think of it, I saw in the papers where neither one of the major league teams was in town. They're on the road."

Impulsively Eve hugged him to her, kissing him many times. "Oh, I love you so much!"

It was several moments before Clay replied. "But not enough to want to live in Chicago with me."

Eve released her hold on him. It was clear now that this idea was fixed firmly upon his mind.

"Listen, dear, you know you can't start in here on as good a position as you have at home. You might be the manager of the shipping department before long. And—"

"Why can't I? I don't see why not."

"But—"

"Oh, you don't think I'm as smart as those men." He directed his hand toward the window and the crowd below.

"Oh, precious, you know I don't mean that!"

"Oh, I know all right, why you don't want to leave Central City, John Ingate, that's why."

She tried to think he was teasing, but she couldn't help wanting to cry.

In the next instalment: More Tears.

FORTY ESKIMOS, RICH FROM TRAPPING, VISIT HOLLYWOOD AND BROADWAY

NOME, Alaska—North will visit the south this spring when 40 Eskimos arrive in Hollywood from the ice-bound stretches of Alaska.

With riches gained from the sale of their trapping products, a band of Eskimos, wishing to spend their wealth on the white man's luxuries, are awaiting the first boat out of here to Seattle.

They plan to visit many large American cities, but Hollywood is their especial goal—the citizens of the north want to see the movies in the making.

When they get to the White Lights of Broadway, they will make one of the oddest sights New York has seen since prohibition.

Why He Succeeded

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, hollow cheeks, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

From hard work on a farm to the study of medicine in Cincinnati, where he was graduated, was the course which Dr. R. V. Pierce took. In his younger days he practiced medicine over a large district. It was then the new oil fields near Titusville, Pa. Finally he determined to put some of his prescriptions in ready-to-use form in order to reach a larger number of families.

He thus moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary, where he put up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood as well as the Favorite Prescription for women, carefully preparing them from roots, herbs, and herbs and placed them with druggists everywhere.

During many years Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists all over the United States than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effects on the stomach and digestive apparatus; an alternative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care-free.

Ask your nearest druggist for Dr. Pierce's Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10c for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

HIGH PASSERS
HIT STRIDE

Orange and Black Quint
Downs Smithfield,
38 to 11.

Marking their third consecutive victory and their fourth in the last five games, Wellsville high school passers defeated Smithfield high, 38 to 11, in a contest Saturday night on the local court.

The Orange and Black got off to an early start and held the lead until the finish. The visitors accumulated four field goals and three fouls.

Calhoun, at center, and Scholl, at guard, led the local scorers, the former getting four field goals and the latter an equal number along with a foul. In the last period, Coach Klinck used his reserve team.

As a result of their showing in recent games, the locals may go into action once again, before the season closes, Faculty Manager Trumbull announced today. Efforts are being

Best Way to Loosen
Stubbom Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TO be fresh and charming every day, to live every day unhandcapped, to wear sheerest frocks without a second thought, any day, anywhere... you can now do all, a new way.

It is called "KOTEX." Ends the insecurity of the old-time sanitary pad. Five times as absorbent! Deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL fear of offending.

NO LAUNDRY

As easily disposed of as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You get it at any drug or department store simply by saying, "KOTEX"; you ask for it without hesitancy.

Costs only a few cents. Eight in 10 better-class women employ it. Proves the unnecessary risk of old ways.

If It's Chronic
Constipation?
McCoy's Rinolin

Will Give You Regular and Natural Bowel Movements in 10 Days or Your Money Back

Why don't you get rid of chronic constipation altogether and stop the use of harmful purgatives, salts or calomel?

As long as you have constipation toxins will accumulate in the intestines and eventually get into the entire system and cause self-poisoning.

When you have taken McCoy's Rinolin for 10 days as directed, it will have put the bowels in such a clean, healthy condition that for a long time thereafter, you will have natural and regular bowel movements.

Then you'll feel so much better and look so much better that life will be well worth living.

McCoy's Rinolin is a scientific emulsion that has already helped a host of chronic sufferers put an end to stubborn constipation.

Like McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, it is the one grand tested remedy, so if your bowels do not function properly, get a bottle today from any druggist with the distinct understanding that if it doesn't do as this notice reads, your money will be returned.

Rinolin tonight—Pep tomorrow.

"Dancing Mothers,"
At Ceramic Theatre

What is a faithful adaptation of a Broadway play, opened at the Ceramic theatre today in "Dancing Mothers," adapted by Forrest Halsey from the Selwyn-Gladstone stage success.

Herbert Brenon directed, and he had a fine group of players with which to work. Conway Tearle is seen as Jerry Naughton, the man who started all the trouble. Alice Joyce is the woman who decided to become one of the "Dancing Mothers," and Clara Bow is seen to advantage, in her first part in a Paramount picture, as the troublesome young daughter. And it is not fair to omit mentioning the splendid work done by Norman Trevor as the father, and Donald Keith as the daughter's fiancé. Not to forget notable characterizations by Dorothy Cummings and Elsie Lawson.

It's not fair to tell much of the story, as it would spoil your enjoyment of the film on seeing it. Suffice it to say that we are shown a family who are part of the New York set. That is, they are all except the mother, who stays at home.

In this role, Alice Joyce makes one forget in the past. Waiting at home for a mad-cap daughter, and a wandering husband, she decides to play a part herself in the whirlpool that threatens to engulf them all. Then comes a twist which, while perfectly logical, is one of the queerest things that has been seen in many a day. "Dancing Mothers" is fine entertainment for all audiences.

Divorce Evil a Menace

One Big City Has
One Divorce For
Every Two Marriages—Authority
Declares Real
Cause Can Be Found.

Not the Lack of Morals, But
Weakening of Health Is Held Responsible.

One great authority calls attention again to the great number of divorces. He declares it is indication of the degeneracy of the race—not of a decline in its morals. In his judgment, people pay too little attention to the maintenance of those relations that bring people together and hold them. Conjugal love, he says, cannot exist when either party fails to live up to the obligations of married life, and he insists most divorces are due to physical repulsion, arising usually, from weakness.

That such weakness is on the increase cannot be doubted. It was realized long ago when a group of thinkers got together to devise some means of overcoming it. In their opinion it was due to the neglect of those glands that supply vitality and vigor to a man and magnetism and strength to a woman. Long research convinced them they were on the right track, and by the expenditure of a large sum of money over several years, they devised a formula that usually overcomes this weakness.

For those who lack vigor, mental and physical forces are not up to what they used to be. World's Best Treatment is a wonderful aid. It is clearly indicated in all cases where power is lessened, health is failing and pep is lacking. Carnahan's drug store, or Brannan's at Wellsville, will supply you with three months' treatment for $5.00.

Troy Murder Quiz Shifted To Urbana; Trail Beggar

Woman Struck When She Refuses Request for Money, is Unable to Describe Her Assailant.

TROY, March 8.—The Troy murder investigation had temporarily shifted to Urbana today following reports from that city that a beggar called at the home of Mrs. Jake Instine last Friday and struck her after she had refused him money.

Circumstances may be similar in the two cases, Private Detective Slater declared and a thorough check-up will be made.

Urbana police have been asked to furnish all available information. URBANA, March 8.—Mrs. Jacob Instine, who was struck by a beggar when she refused money last Friday, is unable to furnish a very good description of the man, she said today. She was working about the house and answered the door in response to a knock. A strange man stood there and asked for food, then money. When she refused the money he followed her into the house and struck her. He made his escape in an automobile.

by the way, denies that the young lady bathed in the champagne. He says the bathtub was "only full of ginger ale."

Invitations to the party, however, one of which the writer read, stated quite plainly that "everything would be supplied, including the stretchers," which indicates that an enjoyable time for all had been planned.

A SOLEMN Washington dispatch says the president and cabinet discussed the Wall street scare, and "President Coolidge let it be known that he felt there was nothing taking place in the business world symptomatic of a lull in the present prosperity."

The trouble, just "nervous prosperity" among some of the gamblers, afraid of their own profits.

The revised income tax rate will bring hundreds of millions out of the income tax proof non-taxable securities, and business will boom more than ever.

Some day we shall have to pay for that war and our share in it. That's several years off.

WALL STREET flurries don't hurt big people or big institutions. In the midst of the financial hysterics New York's National City bank bought the People's Trust company, paying more than $16,000,000 for it, and now has resources of more than twelve hundred millions. Owners of the Trust company got $35 a share for stock that originally cost $100, so everybody is happy.

As for little lambs, swept overboard by the bear raid, they will go to work now, and perhaps that will be better for them. Stock gambling is nervous work, not meant for everybody, and it adds nothing to real wealth.

Fire Truck Averts Crash With Newell Line Street Car

Collision between a fire truck and a Newell street car was averted at the corner of Fourth and Washington streets at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night while firemen were answering an alarm from the Travelers' hotel, Fourth street.

As Fireman Charles Bryan attempted to turn the truck at the corner, a Newell car approached. In an effort to avoid a crash, Bryan drove the truck onto the sidewalk in front of the Y. M. C. A., but stopped it without damage to the machine or Y building.

The fire at the hotel was caused when a lighted cigarette was thrown into a towel rack. There was no damage.

15 ARRESTS OVER SUNDAY

One Man is Fined $100 on Liquor Law Charge.

Fifteen persons, eight of them charged with intoxication, were arrested by police during the 48-hour period ending Sunday midnight.

The drunks were assessed the usual fine of $10 and costs, totaling $15.80. Four settled, the others being remanded to jail.

Arnold Whittington, 22, and Robert Beaver, 17, were arrested by Chief of Police Hugh McDermott Sunday morning charged with driving an automobile without the owner's consent, upon complaint of William Cain, Mulberry street pool room owner. Whittington was bound over to the grand jury by Judge Hanley under $500 bond, while Beaver, a minor, was turned over to the juvenile court.

Paul Parsons was fined $100 and costs for the illegal possession of intoxicating liquors. He was arrested on Second street by Patrolman Lister Sunday afternoon. Parsons said a guest at a Second street hotel, had sent him for a half pint of whisky and that he had found the liquor in a nearby alley. He was remanded to jail when his fine was not paid.

Matilda Cunningham, who was arrested in Church alley at 3 o'clock Sunday morning charged with using profane language, failed to appear for a hearing before Judge Hanley this morning. She will be re-arrested if she fails to report this afternoon.

Frank Hughes Heads Strand Program of Keith Vaudeville

The principal act on vaudeville bill which opened a three-day engagement at the Strand theatre this afternoon will be offered by Frank Hughes, a brother of Hughes of Adelaide and Hughes, who are among the best known stage dancers in both this country and Europe. Frank, like his brother, is adept in the art of terpsichore, and has been featured in musical comedy, but now heads his own version of "Snappy Moments in Danceland," assisted by four pretty misses who have been coached in the Hughes manner. They present a group of dances marked with originality and carry attractive special stage settings and electrical effects.

The Bam Bams offer an unusual novelty. In full view of the audience they erect a wigwag which is suspended in mid-air, and after one of them is fastened hand and foot upon a small ladder, also several feet in the air, the wigwag is closed and immediately weird sounds make themselves apparent from within. The Bam Bams are Indians.

Mazie Wallace and Marty May present Terry Mack's delightful fantasy, "Just Suppose." As the title implies, this is a bright little skit having to do with pretending, a favorite form of day dreaming.

Mahoney and Talbert, "Those Melodious Chaps," will offer keen humor, as well as pleasing songs. The entire vaudeville bill has been booked by B. F. Keith's New York office, which assures a high standard of entertainment.

On the screen will be shown Patsy Ruth Miller, whose wholesome beauty and vividly sincere acting having marked her for stardom since her triumph in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," is said to have fulfilled all the promise of her career as Rose Kirby in "Rosa of the World," taken from the Kathleen Norris novel. A matinee will be given every day and two performances each evening, starting at 6:45, with a short picture of current events and the first vaudeville beginning at 7 o'clock. The second vaudeville show begins at 9 o'clock, followed by the feature picture.

Sills Stages His Best Movie Fight In "The Knockout"

The screen's greatest fighter—Millie Sills.

Sills' movie career has been just one fight after another the last few years. And in "The Knockout," now at the American theatre, he enacts the biggest physical encounter of his career, surpassing even that in "The Spoilers," which established a fight precedent in screen history.

As the fighting Sir Oliver Tresillian in "The Sea Hawk," Sills established himself definitely in the screen world as a portrayal of virile roles. He followed this with his forceful characterization of Major Craig in "As Man Desires." His fierce struggle in this picture were so realistic that he was laid up for a week. As the intrepid fighting Officer Jim in his first starring picture, "The Making of O'Malley," he fought his way through seven reels.

In his present picture, "The Knockout," Sills surpassed any of his former affairs, having John Kolb, a six-foot-seven-inch Titan as his opponent, battling furiously in the turbulent waters of a Canadian river during the break of a log jam. Sills was badly bruised and nursed a black eye for several days as a result of his hectic physical exertions in this fight.

First Impressions Are Lasting Ones When Dutch Master Coffee Is Used

The present time is a good time to consider the importance of the first impression. The essential importance, the impressiveness of first impressions is so natural, so recognized a truth as never to go trite.

Dutch Master Coffee is a coffee that makes a distinctly favorable impression—an advantage which its character and uniformly maintain so that

"Time but the impression deeper makes,
As streams their channels deeper wear."

Dutch Master Coffee "wears well," figuratively as well as literally—it proves to be as good as it appears to be, which is not always the case with some things that make a pleasing first impression.

Dutch Master is an ideal coffee for everyday use, being so distinctly and uniformly good, and so moderately priced for such goodness.

Dutch Master is speedily becoming the favorite Coffee of this community. The excellence of coffee in general depends in a great measure on the skill and attention exercised in roasting it. If it be too little roasted it is devoid of flavor and if too much, it becomes acrid and has a disagreeable taste. Dutch Master is roasted according to a specially prepared formula and never varies.

The blending of coffee has much to do with the flavor desired. Dutch Master is made up of the finest coffees gathered together from the various coffee marts of the world and blended together by secret process so as to produce that flavor and aroma so much desired by coffee enthusiasts—yet rarely found—a flavor that is meeting with universal approval wherever and whenever Dutch Master Coffee is used.

Coffee to be at its best and retain those qualities necessary to a pleasing aroma and exclusive taste must be freshly ground and roasted. Dutch Master is ground as you purchase it and roasted daily.

Coffee, to be uniform in flavor, must always be blended to the same degree of perfection and from the same quality raw product in every instance. The various raw coffees that enter into the making of Dutch Master have been selected because of their unchanging flavor and aroma—then blended so as to appeal to the taste of the average coffee drinker.

Dutch Master offers many advantages not found in the usual package and can coffees, among which we might mention: First—Dutch Master is roasted daily in our own store in your city, insuring you against the "weakened condition" so often prevalent in "package" coffees, which are roasted months before. Second—Dutch Master is more reasonable in price than other coffees of like quality, because of the elimination of the jobbers' profit. "Dutch Master—Direct from Roaster to You"—is our motto, and we give you the savings in quality.

Coffee, to be economical, must also be blended and roasted as to give off those superlative qualities necessary to satisfying taste with the use of but a minimum amount.

Dutch Master is blended and roasted by exclusive, secret processes which retain the entire strength of the coffee bean and make its economical use a certainty.

The current popularity of Dutch Master Coffee has created wide-spread interest regarding production processes. Mr. S. Rudner, manager of the City Market Coffee Shop, where Dutch Master is blended and roasted daily, extends a hearty invitation to all to visit him at any time and see for yourself "Dutch Master" Coffee in the making.

Mr. Rudner is endeavoring to give the people of East Liverpool and surrounding communities a coffee at medium price that will compare favorably with the higher priced brands at the same time can be relied upon to give the same ultimate satisfaction in taste and flavor . . . and if greatly increasing sales are a barometer of indication, he has accomplished it in DUTCH MASTER COFFEE.

EXPERTS SEEK SOLUTION OF RADIO PROBLEM

Wracking Brains to Find Remedy for Poor Reception.

SOLAR ACTIVITY

Report Inability to Pick up Distant Stations.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Government scientists were wracking their brains today to find a remedy for a queer atmospheric malady which has afflicted radio reception during the past winter.

In spite of the vast improvement of broadcasting and receiving apparatus, the cold season was marked by the most unsatisfactory results since radio became universally recognized as among the nation's popular play-things, according to Chief Radio Inspector W. D. Terrell.

More pronounced solar radio activity, resulting from the approach of the maximum sun spot period, and the prevailing frequency with which the northern lights have swept over the polar regions, with their reaction as far south as the Mason and Dixon line, are held responsible by some experts for the difficulties under which radio fans have labored.

Terrell said that thousands of listeners have complained to the department of commerce against reception conditions. Most of the complaints describe inability to get distant stations. Terrell, although operating a powerful receiving set, declared that failure to pick up stations more than 100 miles distant has been the rule.

Although the electric utility companies are trying to prevent leaks from power lines, more complaints against interference from this source, have been received in the last four months than ever before, according to Terrell.

"The electric utilities are cooperating to the best of their ability," Terrell said. "Nevertheless the complaints continue."

Terrell thought that power leaks might be attributable to the same influences which have made long distance reception difficult.

Although winter is regarded as the real radio season officials said that with the increasing use of high power in broadcasting some of the seasonal aspects may be removed. One station in the country is now operating on 50,000 watts. Fourteen broadcasters employ 5,000 watts, thirty, 1,000 watts; five, 1,500 watts; five, 2,000 watts and one each, 2,500, 3,000 and 3,500 watts.

TWO MILLION FARMERS TO MOTOR ON VACATION TRIPS THIS SUMMER.

SAN DIEGO.—Prospects of increased autotourist traffic into Southern California this year are seen from answers received to a questionnaire distributed by an Iowa farm publication. Huge numbers of the farmers in the middle west will take vacation trips to the west coast this year, according to conclusions obtained from the study.

Out of 10,000 subscribers of the publication it was revealed in the canvass made among them that 77 per cent were owners of automobiles. The farmers who answered the question were made possible this revelation were chiefly residents of the North Central states. Iowa showed a percentage of 90. Trips of some sort away from home were planned by 58 per cent of this group, it is shown, while 84 per cent of these expected to tour outside of their own state.

With 6,448,343 farms in the nation, it is thus indicated that more than one-third of the farmers will take a trip outside their own state, providing the questionnaire sent out to the middle western farms holds true the country over. In round figures the estimate is that more than 2,000,000 farmers will thus take their families in the horseless chariot and travel out of their own state during 1926.

The thing that makes you want to sing—when "Old Kentucky Home" is played

HAVE you ever listened to the music of this old, familiar song, without singing—to yourself, at least? Few of us have. Few of us can resist the deeply human urge to take part in the music that we hear.

Just listening is not enough. It leaves something in us unsatisfied. Only from the songs we sing and the music we play ourselves do we derive complete enjoyment.

To your home the Gulbransen Registering Piano brings both these pleasures—even though you cannot read a note of music. The Gulbransen plays by roll. Yet you control its playing. You can hush it to a whisper, or release its clear, sweet tones in brilliant volume. You can play fast or slow, accent melody and harmony notes, accompany voices or other instruments. It is simple and easy.

For a small cash payment we will put a Gulbransen Registering Piano in your home. Balance in small payments to suit your convenience. We will make a liberal allowance for your present piano or other musical instrument.

Visiting Judge
TO HEAR CASES

Application has been made by Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine to Chief Justice Marshall, of the Ohio state supreme court, for the assignment of another judge to Columbiana county upon the expiration of the assignment of Judge Fred H. Wolf.

It is the desire of Clerk Ballantine to have a judge assigned who can remain over the week of April 12, when the next grand jury will convene.

The assignment of foreign jurists to service in this county has resulted in the hearing and disposition of several hundred cases during the present term of court. A number of cases have been advanced, and many others have been disposed of finally.

URGE NEW METHOD OF HOG SHIPMENTS

Direct selling of hogs from shipping points in Columbiana county to packing houses is the aim of Service Manager Phil E. Heim of the Columbiana County Farm Bureau. It has been pointed out by Mr. Heim that carlots of quality hogs can be marketed direct in this manner, and that the result will show an increased turn over to the shipper.

At this time all live stock shipped out of this county under the supervision of Mr. Heim is forwarded to the Producers Co-operative Commission company, either at Cleveland or Pittsburgh, an organization in which farm bureau members hold stock. In an effort to develop the direct shipping to packing houses, Mr. Heim has explained that all hogs must be prime stock, and that where quality is shown a premium is paid by the receivers.

The Ohio-Whitite Paving company of East Liverpool is expected to resume its contract awarded last fall for the resurfacing of Lincoln way, Lisbon, early in April. The highway is to be resurfaced from the intersection of the Lisbon-East Liverpool road westward to the Canton bridge, and after work is resumed, it is said that the contract can be finished within a month.

Mother! It's
Cruel to "Physic"
Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils. While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purg" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish a natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never

Joseph Kane Accepts Golf Pro's Post At Country Club

Young Instructor Brought Here From Cambridge Springs

Comes From Pennsylvania Family of Golfers, With Five Years of Teaching Experience; John, a Brother, is Named as Caddy Master; No Definite Date Set for Opening of Local Course.

JOSEPH KANE, 20-year-old golf expert, one of four brothers constituting a golf family known throughout Pennsylvania, has accepted the post of professional at the East Liverpool Country Club and will take charge of his duties on April 1. He succeeds Alex Miller, who left the club last fall at the close of the season to go to Florida.

COUNTRY CLUB'S NEW GOLF PRO

Joseph Kane

The sandy-haired Joe is a clean cut lad, plays a nice game and an excellent instructor. He has been connected with the pastime for approximately 10 years. For the last five seasons he has been assistant to William at Cambridge Springs. His pupils all eulogize him and regret his departure.

A third brother of the group, John, will work with Joe here as caddy master and club maker. This duo performed together very successfully at Cambridge Springs, practically running "Bill's" shop and taking care of his needs while he was out on the course. Both of them know the game.

Although young Kane takes up his duties on April 1, no definite date has been set for the golf opening at the local club, this depending on weather conditions during the forepart of the spring and the orders of Greenskeeper Ewing. The latter succeeds Harry Brien. An expert in his line, Ewing comes here from the Beaver Valley Country Club where he was stationed for a number of years.

Indian Hurlers Ready.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 8.—The pitching staff of the Cleveland Indians, with the exception of Joe Schantz and George Uhle, was ready to go on the mound today, according to Jack McAllister, who is in charge of the players. All are in readiness and physically perfect.

Pirates Will Raise Title Pennant April 22; Meet St. Louis In Opener

New Scale of Prices in Effect This Season, Marking Slight Increase; Greater Cost of Operation Cause.

The World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates have announced that they will raise the 1925 National League Pennant at Forbes Field April 22, opening day of the 1926 season. President Heydler of the league will be present and take part in the ceremonies. The Pirates are the opponents of the Cardinals that day and, from the greatly improved ball the Cards have been playing since Hornsby took hold of the club, the opening day battle should be a real one. It is pretty generally conceded by sporting writers that the St. Louis boys are going to be in the pennant race from the beginning this year.

This will be the fifth pennant raised by the Pittsburgh Club in its long history in baseball, all of them under the presidency of Barney Dreyfuss. Just after moving his baseball interests from Louisville to Pittsburgh, Dreyfuss captured three pennants in a row—1901, 1902 and 1903. Again in 1909, the first year Forbes Field was open, the Buccos came through a winner of league honors and also captured the world title from the Detroit Tigers of the American League.

The task of preparing Forbes Field for opening the season already is under way. There will not be many changes outside the absence of the world series temporary stands which were removed last fall. The most noticeable difference will be the changes in the seat section numbers. These changes have been made necessary by the opening of the three quarter million addition to the Pirates' palatial park since last opening day.

Since the opening of Forbes Field back in 1909 it has been the policy of the management to number everything in the seating areas from right to left facing the field. Continuing this policy, for the coming season the sections both downstairs and in the second tier will begin with number 1 on the extreme right-center field end. Under this arrangement the first section on the first base side of the old stand (formerly section 1) will now be section eight. A simple way to determine the new section numbers in the old stand is to add seven to the old number.

While all sections in the grandstand will be numbered, sections 1 to 7, both upstairs and down, comprising all the seats in the new grandstand, will not be reserved except for special occasions like a world series, but will be held for general admission patrons, thus assuring plenty of seats at all times for the fans who do not care for the box or reserved seats. The reserved sections will be such portions of sections 8 to 22 downstairs as are necessary to meet the demand, and the entire areas of the same sections upstairs.

The Pirate management has also readjusted its prices at Forbes Field beginning with the 1926 season. The greatly increased cost of operation, together with the failure of Congress to remove the ticket tax, has precipitated this move by the Bucco owners.

The new prices are as follows:

All box seats $1.50 plus tax 16 cents, total $1.75.
All reserved seats $1.25 plus tax 16 cents, total $1.50.
Grandstand general admission $1.00 plus tax 10 cents, total $1.10.
Bleachers 75 cents and 50 cents tax free.

Ever since the imposition of the ticket tax, the Forbes Field prices have been the lowest in the National League, except one city. Even in St. Louis, Boston and Philadelphia, where neither the accommodations nor the brand of ball played is in the same class as at Forbes Field, the fans have been paying more for their baseball than has been charged in Pittsburgh.

Mail orders for the opening games of the season now are open and a letter directed to the club at Forbes Field, together with a check and return envelope will be given close attention and the best seats available at the time of receipt of the order will be returned.

WILLS INVADERS ENEMY'S COURTS
Nice, March 8.—Miss Helen Wills entered enemy territory today when she arrived here to play upon the courts where Suzanne Lenglen has reigned queen for so many years.

Miss Wills will play in the singles on the Nice courts, for the first time, but Miss Lenglen is absent and she hopes that these two would stage another great tennis battle here have long since been dashed.

TOLEDO SQUADS BOWL TONIGHT

Need Better Than 2,600 Now to Break in on First Five.

TOLEDO, March 8.—Three squads of Toledo booster teams exclusively will make up the rolling of the third evening in the annual tournament of the American bowling congress here tonight.

There have been two good marks to shoot at, not only from a booster team prize fund standpoint, but likewise from a regular prize as well. Last night two Toledo teams crashed out exceptionally good scores, the best being a 2,880 by the Gasterowski brothers' quintet, the other a 2,803 by the Bunting Brass and Bronze.

There are many teams that would be delighted to net a 2,880, for this figure was hit by the Lincoln Lites of Fort Wayne at Buffalo last year, and was good for eighteenth place in the final standings and $270.

The 2,803 was equalled last year by Birk Bros. of Chicago and was fifty second in the standing for a prize of $66. It now takes better than 2,600 to get in the first five teams in the standing, due to the Star Cigar team hitting 2,673 for fourth place.

Standings, five men event: Gasterowski Bros., Toledo, 2,880; Bunting Brass and Bronze, Toledo, 2,803; Keil and Kree, Toledo, 2,694; Star Cigar, Toledo, 2,673; Frosch five, Toledo, 2,647.

HAGEN LANDS EASY VICTORY

Proves Right to Title of Match-play King of Links.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 8.—Walter Hagen's amazing easy victory over Bobby Jones, by 12 up and 11 to play, in a 72-hole match, concluded here yesterday, left no doubt to the identity of the American match-play king of the links at this time. Jones' followers, however, maintained today that Bobby was far off form.

Bobby played better golf yesterday, getting a 73 for the first eighteen holes, but Hagen was almost unbeatable with a 34-35-69. The professional champion's card showed a 71, a 70 and a 69 for a sensational total of 210 for 54 holes while Jones had 77-74-73—224.

At this time the names of several speakers will be considered, and a program of sports outlined.

PUBLIC SQUARE - CLEVELAND

Defeat Dover to Cop Eastern Cage Title

ZANESVILLE won the eastern Ohio sectional basketball tournament because they played better basketball than any other team in the meet, and they deserved the title.

This is the consensus of opinion among tournament teams, fans and officials following Zanesville's 30 to 20 victory over Dover Saturday afternoon in the final contest of the preliminary to the state championship games on March 19-20 at Columbus.

The Zanesville passers copped every one of their three games decisively, although their efforts were strange enough in view of the fact that Marietta had twice beaten them during the current season.

It was the opinion of a large number of fans familiar with the Zanesville, Marietta, Cambridge and other teams that the tournament victors were playing over their own heads. In their game with East Liverpool they made fully 50 percent of their shots, according to Athletic Director O. V. Boone.

However, no one denies that Zanesville had a great, well-balanced squad of big, rangy lads who not only were versed in fundamentals of the sport but were accurate marksmen. Forwards alone were not depended upon for points. Zanesville is a shooting team—five men, not two or three, are banging away at the basket all the time.

BILL EDWARDS FOOTBALL CZAR

Heads American League at Salary of $25,000 a Year.

NEW YORK, March 8.—William H. (Big Bill) Edwards, former collector of internal revenue, has accepted the post of "czar" of professional football, it became known today. He has agreed to head the American professional football league, Harold (Red) Grange's organization, at a salary of $25,000 a year.

Edwards, who was a famous Princeton gridiron star, will serve football as Kenesaw Mountain Landis guides the destiny of baseball. William Hayward, former United States district attorney for New York, will be general counsel for the league.

The organization, it is said, has already allocated franchises for New York, Boston, Newark and Milwaukee, and a dozen other cities have applied for membership. The league, however, will include only ten cities under present plans.

Edwards issued a statement on his acceptance of the presidency of the league, declaring his ideal of maintaining college standards.

"I have accepted the presidency because I want to help preserve high class football as it is played in the colleges," he said. "The traditions of our great game is that it is a clean, red-blooded sport—a great character builder—and it must retain these splendid qualities when played professionally."

Giants Book Collegians.
SARASOTA, Fla., March 8.—The New York Giants were to play their first practice game of the training season today, being scheduled to meet the University of Florida in a nine inning contest on the local field. Most of the regulars, now in camp, were expected to see action during the pastime. Neither Irish Meusel nor George Kelly have reported, but they last word received here was that they were on their way from California and would arrive today or tomorrow.

Omar Cagers Defeat Oakland Quint, 40-18

Brown and Penabaker starred for the winners, the former getting eight field goals and the latter six. On Saturday, March 6, the Omars will play the Duckeyes on the "Y" floor.

and Now Tax Reduction Allowed

Effective at once, the delivered price of all Chevrolet models is reduced. Chevrolet buyers will be given the benefit of the recent tax reduction though it does not become officially operative until March 29th. Thus for the third time since the first of this year Chevrolet emphasizes its supremacy in dollar for dollar value.

First - Reduced Prices
Early in January Chevrolet announced sweeping price reductions.

Then - The Improved Chevrolet
Shortly thereafter the improved Chevrolet was announced at lower reduced prices. Instantly it met with such an increase in popularity that it became necessary to break all previous production records for January and February.

And Now - a Further Saving
Although the reduction in automobile taxes does not become officially effective for some time, the full amount of this reduction is now passed on to Chevrolet buyers. Thus Chevrolet again emphasizes that principle of value on which it has built the greatest success ever attained by any manufacturer of modern gear shift automobiles. Come in! See the improved Chevrolet! One ride will be a revelation.

Kathleen Norris Story on Screen At Strand Theatre

In addition to having the vital story by Kathleen Norris for its plot, "Rose of the World," the Warner Bros. classic of the screen which opened today at the Strand theatre, has one of the most brilliant casts of the season, directed by Harry Beaumont. Patsy Ruth Miller plays the title role of Rose Kirby and steps right out of the pages of this popular novel, adapted to the screen by Dorothy Farr.

num. Miss Miller, who recently signed a long term contract with Warners, will be particularly remembered for her characterization of Esmeralda in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." She makes the emotional, courageous heroine of "Rose of the World" live before you on the screen and gives a remarkably fine performance.

Then there is Alan Forrest as the hero and Pauline Garon as his pert little wife. Alan Forrest has a successful stage career behind him as well as numerous heroic characterizations of likeable young men on the screen. Pauline Garon, who has heretofore been associated primarily with flapper roles, shows her ability as a dramatic actress in the role of the jealous and suspicious young wife.

Alec Francis, old time screen favorite, recently seen in "The Bridge of Sighs" for Warner Bros., plays "Gramp" Tallifer and adds new laurels to his crown as the best loved old man of the films.

Rockliffe Fellowes gives an excellent performance as the villainous husband of the heroine, whose greed is punished in dramatic fashion, and Lydia Knott is perfect as the mother of the genteel family that has lost its wealth. The remainder of the cast includes Barbara Luddy, Helen Dunbar, Edward Kiel, Jr., and Carrie Clarke Ward.

Julien Josephson wrote the scenario

for "Rose of the World," which is a thoroughly entertaining photo play from every possible angle.

The Commissioner of Police of London recently refused a license to a new motor car having four-wheel brakes, because "a car so fitted might pull up too quickly and a vehicle behind perhaps crash into it."

Although he was injured when the taxicab carrying him to a funeral broke an axle and ran backwards down a hill, Rev. W. Legerton, of England, insisted on going to the cemetery to officiate.

Among 10,000 articles left on trains in England last year were twelve galvanized iron tubs, several baby carriages, a sofa and thirty-two sets of false teeth, all of which were sold at public auction.

Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer of Great Britain, recently was stopped and compelled to give his name and address to a traffic officer who said he was not obeying the traffic rules.

Stop a Cold In a Day
We paid $1,000,000 for this Method

You can end a cold in 24 hours. But you must use the right way, the complete way. It does more than end a cold. It checks the fever, stops the headache, opens the bowels, tones the entire system. It leaves one in better condition than when the cold began. That way is HILL'S. It is such a super-help that we paid $1,000,000 for it. It is so well-proved that millions have come to employ it. Start HILL'S today, and relief comes tomorrow. Use it promptly, and the cold does not get started. Use it a few days, and the damage is ended. One usually feels better than when the cold began. A cold is a serious matter. Deal with it in the best way science knows. That way is HILL'S. All druggists.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

About Big Business.
Does It Worry You?
A Puzzled Countess.
Coolidge Not Worried.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

DOES THE GROWTH of big business worry you? Consider the automobile business, which is certainly big.

Five hundred different kinds of automobiles have disappeared from the market within 25 years.

In 1922, 80 different makes of cars were shown in the national automobile show. In 1923, 65 makes; only 57 in 1924, and in the last show, only 50.

What have been the results of concentrating the automobile business in fewer hands?

Detroit automobile makers at this moment employ 60,000 more men, at high wages, than they did in the same weeks last year.

The output of cars is steadily increasing, prices are lower than ever. Ford, the biggest maker, and perhaps the richest man in the world, sells more cars than all other automobile makers put together, and sells at the lowest prices.

Business must be big, and bigness should be encouraged by the government, watched and controlled by the people.

If they haven't brains enough for that they wouldn't have enough to control little business.

A BEWILDERED woman is the Countess Cathcart. Because she had eloped with the Earl of Craven, not her husband, she was locked up at Ely Island, and he was allowed to come in. "Why," she asked, "do you stop me?" The answer came, "We can't endure immorality in this proud country."

She got into the United States eventually, edited by high morality, no doubt, and was invited to a New York "wild party." There, the story goes, in a mixed crowd of men and women, she beheld a naked actress taking a bath in a tub filled with champagne.

And that isn't the worst of it. The Ellis Island imprisonment advertised her so well that theatre and moving picture managers hired her. Now moving picture people say she can "never appear on the screen" because she went to that wild party.

When the very British Lady Spencer came to America years ago, with her distinguished red-whiskered husband of Spencer House, and stopped at the Old Fifth Avenue hotel, she was amazed by everything, especially by 10 or 12 little dishes of vegetables around her dinner plate. She rolled her eyes to Heaven and said to her husband, "I only ask you, Spencer, what does it mean?"

That's how Lady Cathcart must feel when she tries to unravel our moral code. The courts have ruled she may stay as long as any other alien visitor.

BULLET-RIDDLED BODY OF SAMUEL VOLPE IS IDENTIFIED BY HIS KIN

WIT WILL BE KIWANIS GUEST

Hugh Fuller.

CLUB MEN PLAN LADIES' NIGHT DINNER-DANCE

Hugh Fuller Will be Headliner of Kiwanis Program.

THURSDAY PARTY

Affair Will be Held in Larkin Annex, Market Street.

Hugh Fuller, writer, humorist and impersonator, will be the entertainer for a "Ladies' Night" meeting of the Kiwanis club in the Larkin Annex, Market street, at 6:15 o'clock Thursday evening. His subject will be "Bits o' Life From the Byways."

Among the characters presented by Fuller is "Uncle Eben," a Negro whose story of "De Lan' Behn' de Moon" takes a moonbeam carriage, loaded with children, through the Cookie Gate and into Santyland, where they visit Mother Calico's house; the Snowflake Shop, where the elves make toys; the garden, where Christmas candies grow; the Christmas tree forest and back to their trundle beds.

As a village philosopher, Fuller runs the gamut of humor and pathos with his story of the football game, his country store song, his sneezing spring song and numerous original poems. In "Sammy Goes a-Calling," he reveals the tribulations of a sentimental grocery boy. "Aunt Sue Brundage," a wholesome and lovable, offers a comparison of two contrasting characters, her sons in distant cities, who have been invited home for mother's birthday.

Brother-in-law and Three Other Men Are Questioned by Inspector of Detectives in Cleveland.

VOLPE MISSING SINCE JAN. 24

Anonymous Letter Sent Police Five Weeks Ago Said That Murdered Man Might be Found in Field.

CLEVELAND, O., March 8.—The bullet-riddled body of the man found in a snowdrift near Pepper Pike Village was identified today as that of Samuel Volpe, 32, of Canton, O., by his brother-in-law, Philip de Mario, 1449 Allen avenue, Canton, and other relatives.

"That's him," de Mario remarked without apparent emotion, after viewing the body in the county morgue.

Accompanying de Mario were Louis Pape, a boarder at the De Mario home, and Leo and Benny Valentino, of Cleveland, once in the marriage of Volpe.

All four were taken before Inspector of Detectives C. W. Cody for questioning.

De Mario said that Volpe had been missing from home since January 24 or 25 and that a warrant charging him with failing to support his wife had been issued for his arrest.

An autopsy will be performed over Volpe's body this afternoon and it will then be shipped to Canton for burial.

In the meantime police were continuing their search for the author of the writer of the anonymous letter received by police here five weeks ago, telling them that a murdered man might be found in a field on the Chagrin Falls road. This spot is not far from the place where George B. Donnelly discovered Volpe's body yesterday after his horse, scenting the remains, shied at the gruesome find.

Volpe had been shot three times, once in the back and in both elbows. Police said all the shots were fired at Volpe from his rear.

REV. W. C. STOKES DIES SUDDENLY IN HOSPITAL AT CLEVELAND

Abscess of Ear Claims Penn Avenue Church Pastor.

47 YEARS OLD

Body Probably Will be Brought Here Tomorrow.

Rev. William C. Stokes, 47, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church for two and one-half years, and once president of the Ministerial association, died in St. Luke's hospital, Cleveland, at 8:30 o'clock this morning, after a week's illness which developed from an abscess of the ear.

The Rev. Mr. Stokes, who had been in failing health for several weeks, was stricken in his pulpit during the morning service on February 28, but recovered sufficiently to preach that evening. He entered the Cleveland hospital last Friday evening.

He then went to McConnellsville, Morgan county, for five years. He was pastor of the Franklin Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, West Side, Cleveland, for about four and one-half years before coming to East Liverpool in October, 1923.

Body of the deceased probably will arrive here tomorrow morning. Rev. B. R. Johnson, president of the East Liverpool Ministerial association, today called a special meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to arrange for the funeral services.

FRED HOLCOMB, 9, WELLSVILLE, IS VICTIM OF SPEED MANIAC

Farmer Finds Dying Youth on Cemetery Hill Road.

DRIVER ESCAPES

Police Seek Two Men Who Rode in Sedan.

Struck by a "hit-and-run" motorist Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the Cemetery hill road, Wellsville, while en-route home with groceries for his mother, Frederick Holcomb, Jr., 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holcomb, died Sunday morning at 3:30 o'clock in the City hospital. His skull was badly fractured.

Search for Motorist.

Police authorities launched a search for the motorist, but so far have been unsuccessful in their efforts. According to friends of the family, the automobile, which was neither a Ford or an Overland sedan, carried the driver and a companion. It was said to have been seen by Mrs. William G. Bright, who, however, was too far from the scene of the accident to note the figures on the license plates.

The lad had purchased groceries at the J. F. Donnelly store in Tenth and Commerce streets, Wellsville, and was walking up the hill road when hit by the car. There is no pavement on either side of the road at the point where the accident occurred, and the common custom permits the use of the paved section by both pedestrian and motor traffic.

Bleeding profusely, the body of the youth was picked up by George Bowles, a farmer, of Highlandtown, who drove up the road a few minutes after the motorist had fled. He took the boy to the home of his parents. Later the lad was removed to the hospital in the D. N. MacLean ambulance.

In addition to his parents, the boy is survived by two sisters and a brother, Ruth and Frances and James. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, in charge of Rev. B. R. Johnson, pastor of the First Christian church, of East Liverpool. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

J. H. Maxwell, president of the Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, has filed an action in common pleas court at Lisbon seeking a judgment for $2,426.65 from the McLain Fire Brick company. The street car company, it is claimed in the petition, entered into a contract with the brick company for the construction of a retaining wall and archways near the Vanport plant of the defendant. Improvement cost $4,853.31, but the McLain company has refused to pay for its share, it is alleged.

The action was filed by Billingsley & Moore of Lisbon and Brookes & Thompson of this city.

No More Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy.

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID. The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, C. G. Anderson and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

PERMANENT PAVING

Connellsville is about ready to pave and repave a number of streets at a cost of many thousands of dollars which brings up the discussion of the most durable type of construction. During the last five years a sum approximating $200,000 has been expended for Wilbur paving. When the first material was put down on Crawford avenue, West Apple street and a block on Arch street, its durability was questioned as compared with paving block. After sending the city engineer to Niagara Falls to investigate a piece of road resurfaced with this material, Council contracted for the resurfacing of the three sections above mentioned. The material was guaranteed for five years by the contractor. Whether it has been entirely satisfactory may be judged best by those who use the streets most or by those who have paid some attention to the condition of these sections since they were laid five years ago. Soon the contractor will be relieved of maintenance under the guarantee clause in the contract. Will the cost of upkeep justify further experiment in this kind of material in preference to paving brick?

Two hundred thousand dollars is a large sum of money for any city the size of Connellsville to tie up in something that has not yet been proven a success. There is no escaping the fact that a worn out street base will not endure for any length of time by the simple coating with any kind of resurfacing material. If a street base is not sufficiently strong to maintain a brick surface it is reasonable to assume that resurfacing without rebuilding the foundation will not last for any considerable length of time. Connellsville's brick streets have been quite as good as any brick streets put down years ago to meet the traffic conditions existing at that time. Conditions have changed and nowhere are municipalities building their thoroughfares as they did as late as twenty years ago. Our more recent constructed brick streets are holding up good and except perhaps, for some slight repairs they will be serviceable for years to come. If the city were to adopt modern methods of street construction, that of more secure base with proper drainage, the maintenance cost for twenty years would be a small item as compared with the frequent patching required of bituminous surfacing materials. It cannot be charged that the brick used in the paving of our streets as long ago as 25 years were out. Far from it. The roughness of the thoroughfares was caused by the giving away of the base or because excavations were not properly filled, or because proper drainage was not provided.

It is especially interesting at this time to note what other cities are thinking about and what they are doing in the way of street paving. The following editorial comment from Steubenville Gazette, is worthy of consideration by the municipal authorities who at this time are more or less interested in new street construction:

AS TO ASPHALT PAVING.

"Is asphalt the best material to use on our streets? Will asphalt paving stand up under the wear and tear of present day traffic as well as some other material would? This city has had quite a run on asphalt paving during the last few years, so much so that brick and other materials have hardly been considered.

"But there are now indications that this policy is to be seriously questioned. In the report of the street committee of city council to that body at the meeting Tuesday night, on the paving program for the present year, occurred the following suggestion:

"The attention of the service department is called to the condition of certain of our asphalt streets and defects therein. We suggest that a close inspection be made of all asphalt streets, the faults noted and that the contractor be notified to place them in proper condition at once.

"We recommend that very serious consideration be given to materials for paving, other than asphalt. This recommendation is based upon the experience of the past few years, the faults, referred to above giving rise to the asphalt as to its permanence as a paving material.

"It will be recalled that the Gazette has discussed the paving question at some length and especially the asphalt phase of it. We have asked the question as to how much the asphalt adds to the life of a pavement where the concrete base has been properly prepared. We have discussed the simple nature of the work involved in the preparation of the material and the low cost involved.

"It must be borne in mind that one firm has been doing all the asphalt paving in Steubenville; being successful against all other bidders, practically regardless of price. This was also discussed at length by the Gazette. Since one firm has done all the work it is reasonable to assume that it is all of the same character practically, and if that done first is proving unsatisfactory and is already going to pieces, then it is the natural conclusion that all will follow the same course.

"When contracts were awarded to this firm at a price much above another bidder the excuse was that the low bidder was not 'prepared to do the work.'

"If it should turn out that the high bidder was not prepared to do the work right the people may conclude that they may as well have been saved the additional expense by taking a chance on the low bidder.

"The recommendation of the street committee is a good one and it should have the most serious attention of council. The people of Steubenville are obligating themselves for several hundred thousand dollars' worth of street paving and it would be little short of crime if it would transpire that they are obligating themselves to pay first a first class price for an inferior grade of work. If asphalt will not stand the traffic let it be discarded and some other material substituted; or if the fault is with the character of the asphalt used then let that fact be ascertained and a better grade obtained if possible."

The following comment is from editorials which recently appeared in the Williamsport, Pa., newspapers:

"As to the material used in local paving jobs. Williamsport is an enthusiastic brick city. It has economic reasons for its enthusiasm.

"Figures show brick pavements cost less to maintain and wear longer than other kinds of so-called permanent streets.

"There are undoubtedly some good patent pavements on the market, but Williamsport has had its best success in paving with the use of brick.

"Experience is the best rule obtainable and in the case of paving materials experience has proved brick to be the most economical and satisfactory material for Williamsport.

"The city has no money for experimental work of any kind. It has none for pavements to whose cost must be added the installation and maintenance of a repair plant if asphalt is kept in good condition. It cannot afford extravagance of any kind or in any direction, especially as Park avenue, West Third and other streets must be paved for heavy traffic. This city must get a dollar's worth of value for every dollar spent. As agent of the property owners and taxpayers, council would be derelict if it failed to do so.

"Some brick in Williamsport has held up the heaviest traffic the town has to offer for almost thirty years, and while it is somewhat battered, it is 'on the job' every day, holding up traffic. And to date it isn't debtor for any maintenance expense.

"The oldest brick pavement in Williamsport is the stretch on Fourth street, between Mulberry and Elmira streets. It was laid in 1893. That was thirty years ago, mind you. The expense of maintenance in that time has been practically nothing. In contrast with this are the streets paved with asphalt, about three and a half miles, on which, since 1909, there has been spent approximately $82,000, for resurfacing and repairs.

"It has cost the taxpayers of the city about $24,000 per mile for the maintenance of their asphalt-paved streets. In addition to this the city has kept its little repair plant busy all the time.

"The cost probably would favor asphalt, as a rule, is a little less than brick, but brick is much cheaper in the end on account of the lower cost of upkeep. The property owner pays the first cost of the paving in front of his property. The city is supposed to repair and maintain it forever after. The property owner might think that he was getting a cheap pavement at the start and be no money out of pocket in the future, but he only deceiving himself, because he must pay his proportionate share for repairs throughout the whole city. He has only to contemplate the $82,000 asphalt repair bill to understand what that means."—Advertisement.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

MONDAY, MARCH 8, 1926.

Law-Abiding Community

East Liverpool is a law-abiding community.

This fact is deduced from a study of the February report of business occupying the attention of Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley, now on the second month of his four-year term.

Fifty-six so-called criminal cases were filed under provisions of city ordinances, while 21 state actions, or a total of 76, were heard during the four-week period. And there were no major offenses in the list.

And when it is recalled that the municipal court's jurisdiction includes Liverpool township as well as the city proper, thus serving a population in excess of 25,000, this record speaks well for the community.

Of course, it is recognized that a few transgressors evade the police here as well as in other cities, but, all in all, East Liverpool is a pretty good town, as court officials attest.

And, incidentally, no small part of the credit for the reduction in criminal prosecutions can be attributed to the outlawing of the saloon.

Tropical Touring

Anyone who has feared that the intensity of recent tourist travel in Europe would soon leave the traveler all dressed up and no place to go may now forget his anxiety. When Europe has been seen and re-seen, the confirmed traveler turns to the tropics. And here is the surprising thing about the increasing development of southern travel. It is not seasonal. It is becoming as important in summer as in winter.

The possession of electric fans and abundant cheap ice, not to mention the elimination of mosquitoes and the new zest for exploration of every sort, have combined to make life in and about the tropical zone not merely endurable, but actually comfortable and attractive to natives of the temperate zones.

So southward the course of touring takes its way—also northward, westward, eastward. No one need think, either, that the world's charms are really in danger of exhaustion. Even if this generation of travelers grows weary, there are new generations coming along to whom globe-trotting will be second nature.

What's The Hurry?

Two Americans are now in Moscow arranging with the Soviet government for Russian co-operation in their proposed 20-day tour of the world. They are out to beat the present world-girdling record of 35 days which was made in 1911. Although water transportation has not improved greatly since then, the airplane has made it possible to skim across a good deal of land in a remarkably short time.

The racers plan to cross the Pacific ocean in the Empress of Russia and the Atlantic in the Mauretania, the two ships used by the 1911 record-maker. Across continents, however, they expect to abandon trains and take to the air.

It is quite possible that they will achieve their purpose. If they receive enough co-operation and backing so that there will be practically no delay anywhere, they may get around the world as quickly as they hope. But what of it?

They won't have seen much of interest. They won't have had time for friends, old or new. They will have traveled under nervous pressure, without even accomplishing any scientifically useful purpose.

Speed for a useful end is good. Speed just for speed is foolish.

Better Summer Hotels

The hotels improvement committee of the Ontario Motor league has announced a competition among hotel men to improve accommodations for tourists. Cash prizes are offered. The successful contestants will be those who, according to the voluntary report of legitimate guests, have shown the greatest improvement in cuisine, sleeping accommodations and actual business done during the period from May 1 to November 1, 1926. Nothing is said about rates.

The contest appears to present certain difficulties. Tourist guests are transients. They can therefore report conditions only as they find them in the interval of their residence, and can hardly make comparative reports of any hotel for the whole period. Probably, however, the tone of reports of different guests will be considered. If enthusiasm increases consistently from May to November in any hotel, it will seem evident that hotel service has improved proportionately in the lines specified.

Any tourist planning to visit Ontario in the period named can safely leave the working out of contest details to those in charge. The tourist himself should profit greatly by the competitive service he seems destined to receive, and if he is at all grateful he will do his part by reporting his satisfaction and pleasure just as promptly and faithfully as he would report his "kicks."

Do American summer hotels need this sort of inspiration?

Lieutenant Byrd ought to succeed in flying to the pole, if anybody can.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

More and Bigger Jails

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 8.—A few days ago it was announced that with the Government penitentiaries filled to capacity Attorney General Sargent had issued an order that local jails be used to harbor the overflow of Federal prisoners. This is cited as evidence that Uncle Sam must have more and bigger jails and that the emergency is so serious as to require immediate action by Congress.

Officials of the American Prison Association agree that there can be no doubt about this. They say, however, that it is by no means a new condition or development that is revealed by the order of the Attorney General. Dr. Hastings H. Hart, chairman of the Association's committee on jails and Consultant in Penology for the Russell Sage Foundation, submitted a report to the last annual meeting of the organization stating that the United States Government having no jails of its own was using one-third of all the city and county jails in the country. More than 7,000 prisoners, it was asserted, were being boarded out in local jails over which the Federal Government has no control and many of which are desperately overcrowded and reeking of moral and physical filth.

And now Dr. Hart has addressed a communication to the 130 judges of the United States District Courts urging them to institute grand jury investigations of the conditions under which Federal prisoners are jailed in their respective districts.

"The county jail today is unquestionably a prolific source of crime," says this letter to Federal judges, "and Federal prisoners in common with others suffer from its destructive influence. It can be converted into an agency for the decrease of crime if the subject is intelligently studied and treated. It is exceedingly important that this subject should be approached from the standpoint of common sense and practical wisdom rather than that of sentiment, sensation, or revenge."

The letter also calls the attention of the judges to the recommendation of the American Prison Association that time should give careful consideration that the Federal Government at this to the establishment of a jail system of its own, each jail to cover districts where the number of Federal prisoners is large or where the local jail accommodations are inadequate, and that in connection with the Federal penal system there be established a training school for prison officers similar to that maintained by the British government in which both preliminary and advanced training be provided.

Serious Conditions Charged.
The Hart report refers to county jails as breeding places and schools of crime. It cites jails where prisoners are being herded like hogs in a stockyard and others that are crowded to the point of suffocation. Even in the largest jails in New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago, and Denver, the report says there is no adequate provision for segregating prisoners, with the result that prisoners inexperienced in crime, committed to prison for the first time—including those awaiting trial, detained as witnesses, or imprisoned for failure to pay fines for minor offenses—are forced into close association with hardened criminals and other prisoners of the vilest character.

Bad sanitation, indiscriminate mixing of prisoners, enforced idleness, lack of any Federal control over Government prisoners housed in city, state, or county jails, and the practice of paying a per diem rate for boarding prisoners so that the income of the jailer or sheriff, and the support of his family and the education of his children, depend in part upon the amount of money he can save out of the allowance for feeding prisoners, are other evils to which the attention of the judges is directed.

The greatest congestion of Federal prisoners is said to be at points along the Canadian and Mexican borders, and it is there that the Government should first develop a jail system of its own if it undertakes to deal with the problem in accordance with the judgment of prison experts. The system would then be extended until the Government has jails in all thickly settled sections of the country.

The report of the American Prison Association committee shows that there has been a very great increase not only in the number of Federal prisoners but also in the population of county jails, but also in the population of the three Federal penitentiaries, the latter having doubled in the last five years and more than trebled in the last fifteen years.

Confirmed by House Committee.
That conditions with respect to the housing of Federal prisoners are exceedingly serious was confirmed by the House Committee on Appropriations when it reported the supply bill that included the appropriation for the Department of Justice. The committee stated that the Government penitentiaries were crowded to a degree that cried out for immediate relief. Cells that were intended for but one occupant are housing two prisoners and it has been found necessary to provide temporary quarters that are inadequate and unsanitary. In one penitentiary, according to the Committee, 200 prisoners are being confined in a basement that is always damp and cold and altogether unfit for use on any humane basis of consideration.

It is also contended by the penal experts that if the Government, through Congress, does not take steps to have jails of its own it should at least pay adequately for the service when it boards prisoners in city and county jails. The amount now paid by the Government when it farms out the care of prisoners makes no allowance for rent and in many cases it barely covers the cost of feeding, without any allowance for guards, furniture, bedding, heat, and light.

"The evils of the county jail system have been recognized for one hundred years past," says Dr. Hart's report, "and for 75 years vigorous efforts for the reformation of the system have been carried on by the state boards of charities and correction or state prison associations in certain States. These bodies have worked earnestly and faithfully for the improvement of the system, but for the most part with little effect, because the jails are under the control of county boards which are constantly changing, and whose action is largely controlled by considerations of economy."

"In the localities where the number of United States prisoners is large and the jail accommodation is limited, it has been found necessary to increase the rates to jails where the service was inferior, while other jails which had spare room have received a lower rate for better service. United States prisoners from the City of New York, where the rate paid is 90 cents per day, were boarded in New Jersey jails where the rate was 75 cents per day."

"The Federal Government pays the City of Detroit for sentenced prisoners kept in the Detroit House of Corrections $1.00 per day, but it sends prisoners awaiting trial from Detroit to Toledo, where Lucas County, Ohio, boards them for 55 cents per day." It is said that the Federal Government now has approximately 60,000 prisoners on its hands each year, and that the number is increasing steadily.

FIFTEEN.

The honeymooners were at breakfast. Eve looked rosy across the breakfast that had been laid in their room. She was in that mood that comes from the thought, "no one ever has been so divinely happy as this before." She got up to go and sit in Clay's lap, taking the newspaper from his hands and tossing it away. "Always reading the paper," she pouted. "I was just looking at the ads for men. I think I'd like to live in Chicago. How about you?"

"Oh, it's so BIG," she kissed him. Clay laughed. "You'd soon get over that, small town girl. There are shows all the time, big bathing beaches in summer, everything."

Eve regarded him intently. "You aren't serious, are you?" "You can't find a good job."

"No, honey, let's not think of living here."

Her husband frowned impatiently. "You don't think I want to be tied to Central City forever, do you? Now's the time for us to get started elsewhere, before we have any responsibilities."

"Yes, I know honey," Eve replied. "I've always dreamed of having a little place where I could raise flowers and chickens and dogs and cats and horses."

"You're thinking of a ranch?" Eve pulled her husband's head around so that her eyes looked into his. "Really, Clay, we must think of a place to live. Your mother said—"

He colored. He had suspected that his mother had had something to say about them coming there to live. "Oh, we'll take a little house," he interrupted, taking a phrase of hers.

"We'll have to have furniture, and oh, a thousand things. It takes a frightful lot of junk just for two persons to start housekeeping with. Living alone, a man or a woman gets along with a trunk; when they marry, they have to have a whole household of furniture. . . . Of course we won't have to get everything at first."

"If we located in Chicago we would take a furnished apartment. That would save—"

Worry wrinkled Eve's brow slightly. Was Clay really serious about this? "Where are we going this morning?" she put in. "And, dearest, when are understand it. You'll teach me, won't you?"

A sour expression over-spread Clay's face. He remembered a previous experience in explaining the great national game to an escort. "Well, if you don't want to go, well—how about the stockyards?"

"Ugh! The stockyards? What would I want to go there for?"

"Oh, it's interesting. They let you see how they kill cattle and—"

"Ugh! No thank you. . . . But I didn't say I wouldn't go to the ball game. We can—"

"Come to think of it, I saw in the papers where neither one of the major league teams was in town. They're on the road."

Impulsively Eve hugged him to her, kissing him many times. "Oh, I love you so much!"

It was several moments before Clay replied. "But not enough to want to live in Chicago with me."

Eve released her hold on him. It was clear now that this idea was fixed firmly upon his mind.

"Listen, dear, you know you can't start in here on as good a position as you have at home. You might be the manager of the shipping department before long. And—"

"Why can't I? I don't see why not."

"But—"

"Oh, you don't think I'm as smart as those men." He directed his hand toward the window and the crowd below.

"Oh, precious, you know I don't mean that!"

"Oh, I know all right, why you don't want to leave Central City, John Ingate, that's why."

She tried to think he was teasing, but she couldn't help wanting to cry. (To be continued.)

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

The Dandelion club will be received in the home of Miss Betty Jane Green of Edgewood avenue.

Miss Ruby Reed of Pennsylvania avenue, East End, will be hostess to the Allegro club.

Why He Succeeded

From hard work on a farm to the study of medicine in Cincinnati, where he was graduated, was the course which Dr. R. V. Pierce took.

In his younger days he practiced medicine over a large district. It was then the new oil fields near Titusville, Pa. Finally he determined to put some of his prescriptions in ready-to-use form in order to reach a larger number of families.

He thus moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary, where he put up Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood as well as the Favorite Prescription for women, carefully preparing them from roots, barks, and herbs and placed them with druggists everywhere.

During many years Dr. Pierce's Discovery, for the blood, has been sold in larger quantities by druggists all over the United States than any other medicine. It is a tonic in its effects on the stomach and digestive apparatus; an alternative in its action on the blood, liver and skin. It increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, enriches the blood, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young and care free.

Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10c for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

HIGH PASSERS
HIT STRIDE

Orange and Black Quint
Downs Smithfield,
38 to 11.

Marking their third consecutive victory and their fourth in the last five games, Wellsville high school passers defeated Smithfield high, 38 to 11, in a contest Saturday night on the local court.

The Orange and Black got off to an early start and held the lead until the finish. The visitors accumulated four field goals and three fouls.

Calhoun, at center, and Scholl, at guard, led the local scorers, the former getting four field goals and the latter an equal number along with a foul. In the last period, Coach Klinek used his reserve team.

As a result of their showing in recent games, the locals may go into action once again, before the season closes, Faculty Manager Trumbull announced today. Efforts are being

Best Way to Loosen
Stubborn Cough

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing comes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Constipation?
McCoy's Rinolin

Will Give You Regular and Natural Bowel Movements in 10 Days or Your Money Back

Why don't you get rid of chronic constipation altogether and stop the use of harmful purgatives, salts or calomel?

As long as you have constipation toxins will accumulate in the intestines and eventually get into the entire system and cause self-poisoning.

Then you'll feel so much better and look so much better that life will be well worth living.

McCoy's Rinolin is a scientific emulsion that has already helped a host of chronic sufferers put an end to stubborn constipation.

Like McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, it is the one grand tested remedy, so if your bowels do not function properly, get a bottle today from any druggist with the distinct understanding that if it doesn't do as this notice reads, your money will be returned.

Rinolin tonight—Pep tomorrow.

"Dancing Mothers,"
At Ceramic Theatre

What is a faithful adaptation of a Broadway play, opened at the Ceramic theatre today in "Dancing Mothers," adapted by Forrest Halsey from the Selwyn-Goulding stage success.

Herbert Brenon directed, and he had a fine group of players with which to work. Conway Tearle is seen as Jerry Naughton, the man who started all the trouble. Alice Joyce is the woman who decided to become one of the "Dancing Mothers," and Clara Bow is seen to advantage, in her first part in a Paramount picture, as the trouble some young daughter. And it is not fair to omit mentioning the splendid work done by Norman Trevor as the father, and Donald Keith as the daughter's fiancé. Not to forget notable characterizations by Dorothy Cumming and Elsie Lawson.

It's not fair to tell much of the story, as it would spoil your enjoyment of the film on seeing it. Suffice it to say that we are shown a family who are part of the New York fast set. That is, they are all except the mother, who stays at home.

In this role, Alice Joyce makes one forget in the past. Waiting at home for a mad-cap daughter, and a wandering husband, she decides to play a part herself in the whirlpool that threatens to engulf them all. Then comes a twist which, while perfectly logical, is one of the queerest things that has been seen in many a day. "Dancing Mothers" is fine entertainment for all audiences.

Divorce Evil a Menace

One Big City Has
One Divorce For
Every Two Marriages—Authority
Declares Real
Cause Can Be Found.

Not the Lack of Morals, But
Weakening of Health is Held Responsible.

One great authority calls attention again to the great number of divorces. He declares it is indication of the degeneracy of the race—not of a decline in its morals. In his judgment, people pay too little attention to the maintenance of those relations that bring people together and hold them. Conjugal love, he says, cannot exist when either party fails to live up to the obligations of married life, and he insists most divorces are due to physical repulsion, arising usually, from weakness.

That such weakness is on the increase cannot be doubted. It was realized long ago when a group of thinkers got together to devise some means of overcoming it. In their opinion it was due to the neglect of those glands that supply virility and vigor to a man and magnetism and strength to a woman. Long research convinced them they were on the right track, and by the expenditure of a large sum of money over several years, they devised a formula that usually overcomes this weakness.

For those who lack vigor, mental and physical forces are not up to what they used to be, World's Best Treatment is a wonderful aid. It is clearly indicated in all cases where power is lessened, health is failing and pep is lacking. Carnahan's drug store, or Brannan's at Wellsville, will supply you with three months' treatment for $5.00.

Troy Murder Quiz Shifted To Urbana; Trail Beggar

Woman Struck When She Refuses Request for Money, is Unable to Describe Her Assailant.

TROY, March 8.—The Troy murder investigation had temporarily shifted to Urbana today following reports from that city that a beggar called at the home of Mrs. Jake Instine last Friday and struck her after she had refused him money.

Circumstances may be similar in the two cases, Private Detective Slater declared and a thorough check-up will be made.

Urbana police have been asked to furnish all available information.

URBANA, March 8.—Mrs. Jacob Instine, who was struck by a beggar when she refused money last Friday, is unable to furnish a very good description of the man, she said today.

She was working about the house and answered the door in response to a knock. A strange man stood there and asked for food, then money. When she refused the money he followed her into the house and struck her.

He made his escape in an automobile.

Owners of the Trust company got $835 a share for stock that originally cost $100, so everybody is happy.

Frank Hughes Heads Strand Program of Keith Vaudeville

The principal act on vaudeville bill which opened a three-day engagement at the Strand theatre this afternoon will be offered by Frank Hughes, a brother of Hughes of Adelaide and Hughes, who are among the best known stage dancers in both this country and Europe.

Frank, like his brother, is adept in the art of terpsicore, and has been featured in musical comedy, but now heads his own version of "Snappy Moments in Danceland," assisted by four pretty misses who have been coached in the Hughes manner. They present a group of dances marked with originality and carry attractive special stage settings and electrical effects.

The Bam Bams offer an unusual novelty. In full view of the audience they erect a wigwag which is suspended in mid-air, and after one of them is fastened hand and foot upon a small ladder, also several feet in the air, the wigwag is closed and immediately weird sounds make themselves apparent from within. The Bam Bams are Indians.

Mazie Wallace and Marty May present Terry Mack's delightful fantasy, "Just Suppose." As the title implies, this is a bright little skit having to do with pretending, a favorite form of day dreaming.

Mahoney and Talbert, "Those Melodious Chaps," will offer keen humor, as well as pleasing songs.

The entire vaudeville bill has been booked by B. F. Keith's New York office, which assures a high standard of entertainment.

On the screen will be shown Patsy Ruth Miller, whose wholesome beauty and vividly sincere acting having marked her for stardom since her triumph in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," is said to have fulfilled all the promise of her career as Rose Kirby in "Rose of the World," taken from the Kathleen Norris novel. A matinee will be given every day and two performances each evening, starting at 6:45, with a short picture of current events and the first vaudeville beginning at 7 o'clock. The second vaudeville show begins at 9 o'clock, followed by the feature picture.

Sills Stages His Best Movie Fight In "The Knockout"

The screen's greatest fighter—Milton Sills.

Sills' movie career has been just one fight after another the last few years. And in "The Knockout," now at the American theatre, he enacts the biggest physical encounter of his career, surpassing even that in "The Spoilers," which established a fight precedent in screen history.

As the fighting Sir Oliver Treasillian in "The Sea Hawk," Sills established himself definitely in the screen world as a portrayer of virile roles. He followed this with his forceful characterization of Major Craig in "As Man Desires." His flinty struggles in this picture were so realistic that he was laid up for a week. As the intrepid fighting Officer Jim in his first starring picture, "The Making of O'Malley," he fought his way through seven reels.

In his present picture, "The Knockout," Sills surpassed any of his former efforts, having John Kolb, a six-foot-seven-inch Titan as his opponent, battling furiously in the turbulent waters of a Canadian river during the break of a log jam. Sills was badly bruised and nursed a black eye for several days as a result of his hectic physical exertions in this fight.

Seeing Life Through the Proper Glasses.

How little it takes to change our thoughts from grave to gay! Before dinner hunger and fatigue depress us. After dinner comfort and contentment come. The human machine so quickly responds to our care!

The eyes, too, repay good care. Eyestrain causes nerve fatigue. Nerve fatigue causes headache and irritability, affects the appetite—and is generally depressing. Relieve all this trouble—and our natural sense of well-being and self-confidence returns.

You can see the effects of eyestrain in the faces of people all about you. Even people who wear glasses may show eyestrain—if their glasses are no longer suited to their eyes. The eyes change, but eyeglasses do not change. Strain may be done to the eyes by wearing outgrown glasses.

We are advised to visit the dentist once every six months. And physicians now advise yearly health examinations. Surely it seems reasonable to take equally good care of the eyes—which work for us sixteen hours a day—and which can never be replaced!

Bad lighting, over work, ill health—and advancing years—all affect the eyes. Science has provided an eyeglass lens for every eyesight need. We will conscientiously advise you regarding the care of your eyes.

First Impressions Are Lasting Ones When Dutch Master Coffee Is Used

The present time is a good time to consider the importance of the first impression. The essential importance, the impressiveness of first impressions is so natural, so recognized a truth as never to go trite.

Dutch Master Coffee is a coffee that makes a distinctly favorable impression—an advantage which its character and uniformity maintain so that

"Time but the impression deeper makes,
As streams their channels deeper wear."

Dutch Master Coffee "wears well," figuratively as well as literally—it proves to be as good as it appears to be, which is not always the case with some things that make a pleasing first impression.

Dutch Master is an ideal coffee for everyday use, being so distinctly and uniformly good, and so moderately priced for such goodness.

Dutch Master is speedily becoming the favorite Coffee of this community. The excellence of coffee in general depends in a great measure on the skill and attention exercised in roasting it. If it be too little roasted it is devoid of flavor and if too much, it becomes acrid and has a disagreeable taste. Dutch Master is roasted according to a specially prepared formula and never varies.

The blending of coffee has much to do with the flavor desired. Dutch Master is made up of the finest coffees gathered together from the various coffee marts of the world and blended together by secret process so as to produce that flavor and aroma so much desired by coffee enthusiasts—yet rarely found—a flavor that is meeting with universal approval wherever and whenever Dutch Master Coffee is used.

Coffee to be at its best and retain those qualities necessary to a pleasing aroma and exclusive taste must be freshly ground and roasted. Dutch Master is ground as you purchase it and roasted daily.

Coffee, to be uniform in flavor, must always be blended to the same degree of perfection and from the same quality raw product in every instance. The various raw coffees that enter into the making of Dutch Master have been selected because of their unchanging flavor and aroma—then blended so as to appeal to the taste of the average coffee drinker.

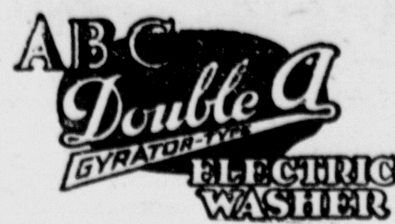

Dutch Master offers many advantages not found in the usual package and can coffees, among which we might mention: First—Dutch Master is roasted daily in our own store in your city, insuring you against the "weakened condition" so often prevalent in "package" coffees, which are roasted months before. Second—Dutch Master is more reasonable in price than other coffees of like quality, because of the elimination of the jobbers' profit. "Dutch Master—Direct from Roaster to You"—is our motto, and we give you the savings in quality.

Coffee, to be economical, must also be blended and roasted as to give off those superlative qualities necessary to satisfying taste with the use of but a minimum amount. Dutch Master is blended and roasted by exclusive, secret processes which retain the entire strength of the coffee bean and make its economical use a certainty.

The current popularity of Dutch Master Coffee has created wide-spread interest regarding production processes. Mr. S. Rudner, manager of the City Market Coffee Shop, where Dutch Master is blended and roasted daily, extends a hearty invitation to all to visit him at any time and see for yourself "Dutch Master" Coffee in the making.

Mr. Rudner is endeavoring to give the people of East Liverpool and surrounding communities a coffee at medium price that will compare favorably with the higher priced brands at the same time can be relied upon to give the same ultimate satisfaction in taste and flavor. . . . and if greatly increasing sales are a barometer of indication, he has accomplished it in DUTCH MASTER COFFEE.

EXPERTS SEEK SOLUTION OF RADIO PROBLEM

Wracking Brains to Find Remedy for Poor Reception.

SOLAR ACTIVITY

Report Inability to Pick up Distant Stations.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Government scientists were wracking their brains today to find a remedy for a queer atmospheric malady which has afflicted radio reception during the past winter.

In spite of the vast improvement of broadcasting and receiving apparatus, the cold season was marked by the most unsatisfactory results since radio became universally recognized as among the nation's popular play-things, according to Chief Radio Inspector W. D. Terrell.

More pronounced solar radio activity, resulting from the approach of the maximum sun spot period, and the prevailing frequency with which the northern lights have swept over the polar regions, with their reaction as far south as the Mason and Dixon line, are held responsible by some experts for the difficulties under which radio fans have labored.

Terrell said that thousands of listeners have complained to the department of commerce against reception conditions. Most of the complaints describe inability to get distant stations. Terrell, although operating a powerful receiving set, declared that failure to pick up stations more than 100 miles distant has been the rule.

Although the electric utility companies are trying to prevent leaks

from power lines, more complaints against interference from this source, have been received in the last four months than ever before, according to Terrell.

"The electric utilities are co-operating to the best of their ability," Terrell said. "Nevertheless the complaints continue."

Terrell thought that power leaks might be attributable to the same influences which have made long distance reception difficult.

Although winter is regarded as the real radio season officials said that with the increasing use of high power in broadcasting some of the seasonal aspects may be removed. One station in the country is now operating on 50,000 watts. Fourteen broadcasters employ 5,000 watts, thirty, 1,000 watts; five, 1,500 watts; five, 2,000 watts and one each, 2,500, 3,000 and 3,500 watts.

TWO MILLION FARMERS TO MOTOR ON VACATION TRIPS THIS SUMMER

SAN DIEGO.—Prospects of increased autotourist traffic into Southern California this year are seen from answers received to a questionnaire distributed by an Iowa farm publication. Huge numbers of the farmers in the middle west will take vacation trips to the west coast this year, according to conclusions obtained from the study.

Out of 10,000 subscribers of the paper, it was revealed in the canvass made among them that 77 per cent were owners of automobiles. The farmers who answered the question that made possible this revelation were chiefly residents of the North Central states. Iowa showed a percentage of 90.

Trips of some sort away from home were planned by 58 per cent of this group, it is shown, while 84 per cent of these expected to tour outside of their own state.

With 6,448,343 farms in the nation, it is thus indicated that more than one-third of the farmers will take a trip outside their own state, providing the questionnaire sent out to the middle western farms holds true the country over. In round figures the estimate is that more than 2,000,000 farmers will thus take their families in the horseless chariot and travel out of their own state during 1926.

The thing that makes you want to sing—when "Old Kentucky Home" is played

HAVE you ever listened to the music of this old, familiar song, without singing—to yourself, at least? Few of us have. Few of us can resist the deeply human urge to take part in the music that we hear.

Just listening is not enough. It leaves something in us unsatisfied. Only from the songs we sing and the music we play ourselves do we derive complete enjoyment.

To your home the Gulbransen Registering Piano brings both these pleasures—even though you cannot read a note of music. The Gulbransen plays by roll. Yet you control its playing. You can hush it to a whisper, or release its clear, sweet tones in brilliant volume. You can play fast or slow, accent melody and harmony notes, accompany voices or other instruments. It is simple and easy.

For a small cash payment we will put a Gulbransen Registering Piano in your home. Balance in small payments to suit your convenience. We will make a liberal allowance for your present piano or other musical instrument.

Mother! It's
Cruel to "Physic"
Your Child

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish a natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

Gives Catarrh Victims Advice

Many People Will Profit From Surprising Story of Mr. Joe Adams, Aged Farmer's Life.

"If the people of East Liverpool and vicinity who are troubled with catarrh, either slightly or seriously will heed my advice they will start using World's Tonic at once" said an aged farm owner of Ironton.

"I know about catarrh if I know about anything at all because I am an old man and I've suffered from catarrh about all my life.

"I first noticed catarrh when I was 20. Like many others I didn't do anything about it. I had a headache once in a while and was troubled with mucus dripping into my throat and I didn't think that was serious enough to do anything about. Well I'll tell you what happened. Within a short time, the catarrh had become so bad that my stomach was severely affected. I became dyspeptic, belched, bloated, had no appetite, lost weight and my health generally went down rapidly. This in addition to the distress of catarrh in my head, nose and throat.

"I started fighting catarrh right away then. But it had gotten too good a hold. About all I could do was keep it from getting worse. The truth is I couldn't find a good remedy—never did find one until I got this World's Tonic recently. World's Tonic has proved to be a wonder. It has done me more good in ten days than anything else ever did in ten years. That's a fact. World's Tonic is relieving my catarrh entirely.

"But as I said before, don't let catarrh get a hold on you. Start fighting it right away. If you don't you'll be sorry. And use World's Tonic because it is the best thing I've found in a good many years of searching."

This aged man knows from experience. Take his advice. Sold by Carahan's, Braunum at Wellsville and all other good druggists.

Joseph Kane Accepts Golf Pro's Post At Country Club

Young Instructor Brought Here From Cambridge Springs

Comes From Pennsylvania Family of Golfers, With Five Years of Teaching Experience; John, a Brother, is Named as Caddy Master; No Definite Date Set for Opening of Local Course.

JOSEPH KANE, 20-year-old golf expert, one of four brothers constituting a golf family known throughout Pennsylvania, has accepted the post of professional at the East Liverpool Country club and will take charge of the duties on April 1. He succeeds Alex Miller, who left the club last fall at the close of the season to go to Florida.

In order to take the opportunity offered by the local club, young Kane terminates a five-year association with an older brother, William Kane, professional at the Riverside Country Club, Cambridge Springs, Pa. According to the latter, Joe is preparing for a big year here.

COUNTRY CLUB'S NEW GOLF PRO

Joseph Kane

The sandy-haired Joe is a clean cut lad, plays a nice game and an excellent instructor. He has been connected with the pastime for approximately 10 years. For the last five seasons he has been assistant to William at Cambridge Springs. His pupils all eulogize him and regret his departure.

A third brother of the group, John, will work with Joe here as caddy master and club maker. This duo performed together very successfully at Cambridge Springs, practically running "Bill's" shop and taking care of his needs while he was out on the course. Both of them know the game.

Although young Kane takes up his duties on April 1, no definite date has been set for the golf opening at the local club, this depending on weather conditions during the forepart of the spring and the orders of Greenskeeper Ewing. The latter succeeds Harry Brien. An expert in his line, Ewing comes here from the Beaver Valley Country Club where he was stationed for a number of years.

Pirates Will Raise Title Pennant April 22; Meet St. Louis In Opener

New Scale of Prices in Effect This Season, Marking Slight Increase; Greater Cost of Operation Cause.

The World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates have announced that they will raise the 1925 National League Pennant at Forbes Field April 22, opening day of the 1926 season. President Heydler of the league will be present and take part in the ceremonies. Rogers Hornsby and his St. Louis Cardinals will be the opponents of the Pirates that day and, from the greatly improved ball the Cards have been playing since Hornsby took hold of the club, the opening day battle should be a real one. It is pretty generally conceded by sporting writers that the St. Louis boys are going to be in the pennant race from the beginning this year.

This will be the fifth pennant raised by the Pittsburgh Club in its long history in baseball, all of them under the presidency of Barney Dreyfuss. Just after moving his baseball interests from Louisville to Pittsburgh, Dreyfuss captured three pennants in a row—1901, 1902 and 1903. Again in 1909, the first year Forbes Field was open, the Buccos came through a winner of league honors and also captured the world title from the Detroit Tigers of the American League.

The task of preparing Forbes Field for opening the season already is under way. There will not be many changes outside the absence of the world series temporary stands which were removed last fall. The most noticeable difference will be the changes in the seat section numbers. These changes have been made necessary by the opening of the three quarter million addition to the Pirates' palatial park since last opening day.

Since the opening of Forbes Field back in 1909 it has been the policy of the management to number everything in the seating areas from right to left facing the field. Continuing this policy, for the coming season the sections both downstairs and in the second tier will begin with number 1 on the extreme right-center field end. Under this arrangement the first section on the first base side of the old stand (formerly section 1) will now be section eight. A simple way to determine the new section numbers in the old stand is to add seven to the old number.

While all sections in the grandstand will be numbered, sections 1 to 7, both upstairs and down, comprising all the seats in the new grandstand, will not be reserved except for special occasions like a world series, but will be held for general admission patrons, thus assuring plenty of seats at all times for the fans who do not care for the box or reserved seats. The reserved sections will be such portions of sections 8 to 22 downstairs as are necessary to meet the demand, and the entire areas of the same sections upstairs.

The Pirate management has also re-adjusted its prices at Forbes Field beginning with the 1926 season. The greatly increased cost of operation, together with the failure of Congress to remove the ticket tax, has precipitated this move by the Bucco owners.

The new prices are as follows:
All box seats $1.50 plus tax 16 cents, total $1.75.
All reserved seats $1.36 plus tax 14 cents, total $1.50.
Grandstand general admission $1.00 plus tax 10 cents, total $1.10.
Bleachers 75 cents and 50 cents tax free.

Ever since the imposition of the ticket tax, the Forbes Field prices have been the lowest in the National League, except one city. Even in St. Louis, Boston and Philadelphia, where neither the accommodations nor the brand of ball played is in the same class as at Forbes Field, the fans have been paying more for their baseball than has been charged in Pittsburgh.

Mail orders for the opening games of the season now are open and a letter directed to the club at Forbes Field, together with a check and return envelope will be given close attention and the best seats available at the time of receipt of the order will be returned.

Miss Wills will play in the singles on the Nice courts, for the first time, but Mlle. ZANESVILLE TOURNAMENT WINNER

TOLEDO SQUADS BOWL TONIGHT

Need Better Than 2,600 Now to Break in on First Five.

TOLEDO, March 8.—Three squads of Toledo booster teams exclusively will make up the rolling of the third evening in the annual tournament of the American bowling congress here tonight.

There have been two good marks to shoot at, not only from a booster team prize fund standpoint, but likewise from a regular prize as well. Last night two Toledo teams crashed out exceptionally good scores, the best being a 2,880 by the Gasiorowski brothers' quintet, the other a 2,803 by the Bunting Brass and Bronze.

There are many teams that would be delighted to net a 2,880, for this figure was hit by the Lincoln Lifes of Fort Wayne at Buffalo last year, and was good for eighteenth place in the final standings and $270.

The 2,803 was equalled last year by Dick Bros. of Chicago and was fifty second in the standing for a prize of $66. It now takes better than 2,600 to get in the first five teams in the standing, due to the Star Cigar team hitting 2,673 for fourth place.

Standings, five men event: Gasiorowski Bros., Toledo, 2,880; Bunting Brass and Bronze, Toledo, 2,803; Kell and Kree, Toledo, 2,694; Star Cigar, Toledo, 2,673; Froesch five, Toledo, 2,647.

HAGEN LANDS EASY VICTORY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 8.—Walter Hagen's amazing easy victory over Bobby Jones, by 12 up and 11 to play, in a 72-hole match, concluded here yesterday, left no doubt to the identity of the American match-play king of the links at this time. Jones' followers, however, maintained today that Bobby was far off form.

Bobby played better golf yesterday, getting a 73 for the first eighteen holes, but Hagen was almost unbeatable with a 34-35-69. The professional champion's card showed a 71, a 70 and a 69 for a sensational total of 210 for 54 holes while Jones had 77-74-73-224.

Defeat Dover to Cop Eastern Cage Title

ZANESVILLE won the eastern Ohio sectional basketball tournament because they played better basketball than any other team in the meet, and they deserved the title.

This is the consensus of opinion among tournament teams, fans and officials following Zanesville's 30 to 29 victory over Dover Saturday afternoon in the final contest of the preliminary to the state championship games on March 19-20 at Columbus.

The Zanesville passers copped every one of their three games decisively, although their efforts were strange enough in view of the fact that Martetta had twice beaten them during the current season.

It was the opinion of a large number of fans familiar with the Zanesville, Marietta, Cambridge and other teams that the tourney victors were playing over their own heads. In their game with East Liverpool they made fully 60 percent of their shots, according to Athletic Director O. V. Boone.

However, no one denies that Zanesville had a great, well-balanced squad of big, rangy lads who not only were versed in fundamentals of the sport but were accurate marksmen. Forwards alone were not depended upon for points. Zanesville is a shooting team—five men, not two or three, are banging away at the basket all the time.

USE OF RESIN GETS BIG LAUGH OUT OF HEYDLER

Scoffs at Theory Players Will Fill Baseball's Seams.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, March 8.—John Heydler, president of the National league, broke right down and laughed today as he contemplated the tremendous reaction the introduction of resin was to have on National league pitching during the impending season. Unfortunately, this made John one down to Buster Keaton for the dead-pan championship of the world, but the slip of the face was unavoidable. It seems he just couldn't help himself.

According to Mr. Heydler, the resin ball may have a beneficial effect only because the boys will think it is helping them. In other words, the physical aid rendered will be largely mental, which is one of those things to be viewed with alarm. The last player caught thinking saved his life only by fleeing across the Canadian border under cover of darkness.

The American league, however, was not one to subject its athletes to embarrassment. It voted that the use of resin on a baseball was reprehensible as the use of a blackjack on the cranium and now, for the first time in his life, Mr. Heydler has the voice with the smile that wins. "Pitchers," he said, between sobs, "have been using resin surreptitiously for years. We merely gave them the legal right to do it. So much for that. Won't Fill Seams.

"They claim that they are able to get a better grip on the ball with resin because it keeps the fingers dry. Did it ever occur to you that a man can dry his fingers on a towel, handkerchief or his uniform? But even granting that resin will achieve this effect with better results, why the fear that it will open the way to trick deliveries?

"Some people claim that the pitcher will fill the seams of the ball with resin and get away with a new curve. I wish any one luck that tries it. He will be busy all day filling the seams of baseballs, for under the modern system we have a new ball in play every few minutes.

"As a matter of fact, if he could have got away with this, he would have had just as much chance under the old rules. The resin we will use will come from a silk bag, finely meshed so that the substance will sift through the fingers. The trick pitcher would have to have more of it than he can get in this way to 'doctor' the ball and it is against the rules now, as before, for him to carry resin and apply it himself."

Omar Cagers Defeat Oakland Quint, 40-18

The Omars defeated Oakland Juniors, 40 to 18, Saturday on the I. O. O. F. court. Staley dropped in six field goals and two fouls for 14 of his team's 18 points. Brown and Penebaker starred for the winners, the former getting eight field goals and the latter six. On Saturday, March 6, the Omars will play the Buckeyes on the "Y" floor.

Omars. Felt, Oakland. Staley, Bailey, Felt, Fountain, Wellington, C. G. Mountz, Massey, C. G. Miller, Brown.

Substitutions—Burke for Penebaker, Boyd for Bailey, Blazer for Brown, Wagner for Fountain, Beaver for Reynolds.

Field goals—Brown 8, Penebaker 6, Bailey 3, Boyd, Massey, Staley 6.

Fouls—Penebaker 2, Staley 2, Wagner, Smith 4.

Referee—Kreefer.

and Now

Tax Reduction Allowed

Effective at once, the delivered price of all Chevrolet models is reduced. Chevrolet buyers will be given the benefit of the recent tax reduction though it does not become officially operative until March 29th. Thus for the third time since the first of this year Chevrolet emphasizes its supremacy in dollar for dollar value.

First—Reduced Prices
Early in January Chevrolet announced sweeping price reductions.

Then—The Improved Chevrolet
Shortly thereafter the improved Chevrolet was announced at the reduced prices. Instantly it met with such an increase in popularity that it became necessary to break all previous production records for January and February.

And Now—a Further Saving
Although the reduction in automobile taxes does not become officially effective for some time, the full amount of this reduction is now passed on to Chevrolet buyers. Thus Chevrolet again emphasizes that principle of value on which it has built the greatest success ever attained by any manufacturer of modern gear shift automobiles. Come in! See the improved Chevrolet! One ride will be a revelation.

Kathleen Norris Story on Screen At Strand Theatre

In addition to having the vital story by Kathleen Norris for its plot, "Rose of the World," the Warner Bros. classic of the screen which opened today at the Strand theatre, has one of the most brilliant casts of the season, directed by Harry Beaumont.

Patsy Ruth Miller plays the title role of Rose Kirby and steps right out of the pages of this popular novel, adapted to the screen by Dorothy Far-

num. Miss Miller, who recently signed a long term contract with Warners, will be particularly remembered for her characterization of Esmeralda in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." She makes the emotional, courageous heroine of "Rose of the World" live before you on the screen and gives a remarkably fine performance.

Then there is Alan Forrest as the hero and Pauline Garon as his pert little wife. Alan Forrest has a successful stage career behind him as well as numerous heroic characterizations of likeable young men on the screen. Pauline Garon, who has heretofore been associated primarily with flapper roles, shows her ability as a dramatic actress in the role of the jealous and suspicious young wife.

Alec Francis, old time screen favorite, recently seen in "The Bridge of Sighs" for Warner Bros., plays "Gramp" Tallifer and adds new laurels to his crown as the best loved old man of the films.

Rockliffe Fellowes gives an excellent performance as the villainous husband of the heroine, whose greed is punished in dramatic fashion, and Lydia Knott is perfect as the mother of the genteel family that has lost its wealth. The remainder of the cast includes Barbara Luddy, Helen Dunbar, Edward Piel, Jr., and Carlie Clarke Ward.

Julien Josephson wrote the scenario

for "Rose of the World," which is a thoroughly entertaining photo play from every possible angle.

The Commissioner of Police of London recently refused a license to a new motor bus having four-wheel brakes, because "a car so fitted might pull up too quickly and a vehicle behind perhaps crash into it."

Although he was injured when the taxicab carrying him to a funeral broke an axle and ran backwards down a hill, Rev. W. Legerton, of England, insisted on going to the cemetery to officiate.

Among 10,000 articles left on trains in England last year were twelve galvanized iron tubs, several baby carriages, a sofa and thirty-two sets of false teeth, all of which were sold at public auction.

Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer of Great Britain, recently was stopped and compelled to give his name and address to a traffic officer who said he was not obeying the traffic rules.

Stop a Cold In a Day

We paid $1,000,000 for this Method

You can end a cold in 24 hours. But you must use the right way, the complete way.

It does more than end a cold. It checks the fever, stops the headache, opens the bowels, tones the entire system. It leaves one in better condition than when the cold began.

That way is HILL'S. It is such a super-help that we paid $1,000,000 for it. It is so well-proved that millions have come to employ it.

Start HILL'S today, and relief comes tomorrow. Use it promptly, and the cold does not get started. Use it a few days, and the damage is ended. One usually feels better than when the cold began.

A cold is a serious matter. Deal with it in the best way science knows. That way is HILL'S. All druggists.
